Brandt Gets Backing In Berlin Vote

His Party Wins Big Gain In First Ballot Since Wall Erected

BERLIN (AP)—West Berliners gave their Socialist mayor, Willy Brandt, a smashing vote of confidence Sunday in their first municipal election since the Communists built their Berlin wall.

Brandt's anti-Communist Socialists won 89 of the 140 seats in the city's new Parliament. They had 77 deputies in the 133-seat house elected four years ago.

West Berlin's small Communist party, never represented in Parliament, lost a third of its popular vote. This was blamed largely on the wall. The Communist vote declined from 31,570 in 1959 to 20,887 ballots. In percentage of the total votes, they decreased from 1.9 to 1.3 per cent.

The Christian Democrats, led by Franz Amrehn, deputy mayor in Brandt's coalition government of Socialists and Christian Democrats, won 41 seats, a drop of 14. They lost over 160,000 votes.

The Free Democrats, not represented in the old house, doubled their strength and entered the new city Parliament with 10 deputies.

Political observers agreed that the city election outcome gave no new key to the West German political situation. Berlin, like most big German cities, is a traditional Socialist stronghold.

Seized Freighter Stops Close To Brazilian Coast

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad (AP)—The hijacked Venezuelan freighter Anzoategui spent the night halted near Maraca Island off the Brazilian coast as pursuing U.S. and Venezuelan warships sped toward the scene.

A U.S. Navy spokesman said what the Communist captors of the vessel were doing off the Brazilian island or why it stopped there remained a mystery. Two small boats visited the fugitive ship Sunday night but there has been no sign of movement since, the Navy said.

The U.S. Defense Department said a tracking American plane saw the 3,127-ton fugitive ship stop dead in the water suddenly off the Brazilian island about 7 p.m.

The island lies about 300 miles northwest of the Brazilian port of Belem, where the hijackers had indicated they might seek refuge.

The report from the tracking plane gave no hint of the identity of people in the boats that appeared alongside the freighter.

Communist gunmen stowed away on the Anzoategui early last week and with the help of one or more members of the crew took over the ship Wednesday after it sailed from Venezuela for New Orleans, La., and Houston, Tex.

The hijackers reportedly made the captain and most of his 35-man crew captive. President Romulo Betancourt's anti-Communist government branded the hijackers mutineers and appealed to friendly nations with forces in the Caribbean to seize the freighter.

Seizure of the vessel appeared to be part of a Communist attempt to force Betancourt to cancel a visit with President Kennedy in Washington this week. Betancourt went ahead with plans to leave for Puerto Rico today and to fly on to Washington Tuesday.

Although Fidel Castro's regime offered the hijackers asylum in Cuba, the ship was located Saturday off the northeast coast of South America. It appeared to be heading for Brazil, where Portuguese rebels who seized the liner Santa Maria in 1961 found asylum.

The U.S. destroyers Wood and Leary sped out of Trinidad to join in the pursuit but Capt. John H. Dinneen, commander of the U.S. naval station at nearby Chaguaramas, said no orders had been received to stop and board the freighter.

The Brazilian navy stood by to seize the ship if it crossed the three-mile limit but the Brazilian government has indicated it would grant the hijackers asylum.

A U.S. plane fired smoke rockets across the ship's bow Saturday in an effort to turn it toward Puerto Rico. The ship kept heading south.

11 Defendants Post Bonds After Arrest In Chester District

A Federal Grand Jury convened today at Wheeling to hear testimony from employes of the plush Jockey Club near Chester, raided early Saturday by a flying squad of FBI agents who arrested 11 men on charges of violating a U.S. statute that prohibits traveling inter - state to conduct a gambling operation.

The Federal Grand Jury convened this morning in the Post Office Building in Wheeling and about 25 persons had arrived to testify in the proceedings. At least 40 are believed to have been summoned as witnesses.

U. S. District Atty. Robert E. Maxwell and John Kamlowsky, assistant, are in charge of the Grand Jury proceedings, which apparently will determine whether there is sufficient evidence for indictments to be returned against the 11 defendants.

Federal authorities did not disclose the scope of the panel's investigation, which could cover the whole question of the casino's operation or the specific charges lodged against the 11 defendants by the FBI.

All the defendants were released on bonds following arraignment Saturday before U. S. Commissioner Nell Moran at Wheeling. The sureties range from $10,000 to $20,000.

The FBI identified them as:

Joseph Pecora, 43, Abe Silverhart, 56, Dominic A. Bieno, 66, and Louis Anzelone, 25, all of Pittsburgh; Sidney Bahm, 54, of McKeesport; Peter Short, 57, of White Oak Borough, Pittsburgh; Joseph Rizzo, 54, of Glassport; Domenick Caputo, 58, of Hollywood, Fla., and Youngstown; Michael Simmera, 40, Joseph Tamburro, 50, and Alex Zryni, all of Steubenville.

Bond for Pecora, Caputo and Bahm was set at $20,000 each.

House Vote Slated On Terms Of Aide Racing Commission

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Bills proposed by the administration of Gov. James A. Rhodes have the highball sign all along the legislative track.

Certain House approval will send both measures to the Senate.

Other administration bills will get legislative hearings as Republican leaders endeavor to push the Rhodes program through the mill as quickly as possible.

Scheduled for hearing Tuesday morning is the administration measure to set up an industrial development program designed to help provide new industrial capital through revenue bonds to help create new jobs.

Area Residents Join Long Hike

A 61-year-old Midland man was among the "army" of 5,000 hardy hikers who attempted a 28-mile physical fitness march from Pittsburgh to Washington Sunday and which dwindled to less than 2,000 by the time the city limits of the Washington County seat were reached yesterday evening.

Michael Balco, 1128 Beaver Ave., Midland, Crucible Steel Co. craneman, helped his marching style with a large stick on the wearying jaunt along Route 19, which caused an immense traffic jam as Sunday motorists drove out to see the hikers.

Two East Liverpool residents also were in the crowd.

The Hoffmanns completed the trip and returned to Pittsburgh on one of the 22 buses which awaited the hikers when they reached Washington.

At Mount Lebanon, Dormont and other communities along the way, all policemen, many special officers and Civil Defense units were called out to assist the hikers and the motorists.

The march stemmed from an invitation last week by a Pittsburgh disc jockey for area residents to take part in a hike with him in response to President John F. Kennedy's physical fitness campaign.

The long line of hikers, stretching out more than nine miles at times, included many teen-agers, an ROTC unit, newsmen, servicemen, youths calling out, "To Washington — With Great Vigah!" and many others who found out how fast blisters can rise on a tender foot.

Why did they all go? Balco said he went "Just for exercise."

He said he likes to walk, and in fact, walks to his job all the time. His son-in-law, Don Divilling of Pittsburgh, accompanied him, and they were met at Washington by their families.

Balco said he got up this morning at 6 "to see if I could still walk." He said he felt "a little stiff," but was primed to go out to work this afternoon.

Yesterday's moderate weather, sunny skies and the current craze for hiking found a number of hikers out in the East Liverpool area.

Stennis Says Pressure On Cuba Needed

Senator Declares Blockade Might Be Used Anew By U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., says another blockade of Cuba may be necessary if Soviet troops on the Caribbean island cannot be forced out by economic pressure or other means.

Republican National Chairman William Miller says the Kennedy administration should consider reimposing the naval quarantine that led to removal of Soviet bombers and missiles from Cuba late last year.

These views and a welter of other congressional opinion about Cuba came in a series of statements and television interviews over the weekend. The consensus from members of both parties was that Communist subversion in Latin America is a bigger problem than the Soviet troops in Cuba.

Stennis said in a television interview that steps to combat the Soviet position in Cuba should include "first, economic pressure, and getting the Organization of American States to cooperate on that as far as they will. And I think unless we get results otherwise we will be driven to a blockade and one step will have to follow another unless results are obtained.

Western Disunity Poses Problem

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the give and take of a fast-moving news conference President Kennedy sometimes crashes through the careful restraints worked out by his official advisers and voices in loud, clear words some hard truth of international relations they would prefer to soft pedal.

In the last few days under the stress of question and answer the President has thus thrown the insight of sharp understanding on one of the problems involved in the present disarray of the Western Alliance. This is the problem of U.S. leadership.

It arises in many different contexts and it appears to be much on the President's mind. A little more than six weeks ago in a year-end review of his administration he stressed the need to get things done even at the cost of disagreement and unhappiness in friendly capitals.

He does not conceive of the United States as being in a popularity contest. He sees it in today's dangerous world as saddled with a lonely responsibility to see that the necessary things get done at the right time and in the right way to save the world from nuclear destruction and from Communist conquest.

The problem as Kennedy sees it—the problem which is at the core of his differences with French President Charles de Gaulle—came clear in a few flashing phrases at his news conference last Thursday. Kennedy was talking about creaton of a nuclear force under the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Missiles with nuclear warheads may have to be fired on five minutes notice, he said, and the decesion to fire may have to be almost instantaneous.

"Who is going to be delegated on behalf of Europe to make this judgment?" the President asked. "Someone has to be delegated with that authority.

Fight Flares Over PUC's Release Of 3

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Open disagreement flared today between the Public Utilities Commission's Democratic member, Miss Frances McGovern, and the Republican majority, Chairman Carl R. Johnson and Commissioner J. Warren Bettis.

Miss McGovern, incensed by the firings Friday of three commission staff people, charged politics is taking precedence over public service.

Johnson and Bettis countered with the view that "creation of small departments and sections throughout the commission (has led) directly to piling red tape on red tape and slowing down the work of the commission. . ."

Miss McGovern is a holdover DiSalle administration appointee. Johnson and Bettis became commissioners last month on appointments by Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Miss McGovern called a press conference today to register her dismay at developments in the commission under the new administration. After getting her side, newsmen then heard from Johnson in his adjoining office.

The fuss followed notification given the three employes Friday afternoon by Sam Nicola, newly appointed secretary of the PUCO, that Friday was their last working day. The three are William W. Lindsay, Robert A. Strickoing and Basil J. Boritzki.

Bouncing Mercury To Climb Into 40's

Bouncing from one extreme to another, the mercury is scheduled to climb into the mid-40's today, producing temperatures that will help remove an accumulation of ice remaining from a long series of winter storms.

The mercury hit an overnight low of 34 degrees in downtown East Liverpool, 38 degrees warmer than the low of minus 4 shown Saturday.

Suburban areas registered 28 this morning, a gain of 41 degrees over the 13 below reported Saturday.

The mercury will climb to 40-46 degrees today and the low tonight will be 28-33.

The forecaster said Tuesday will be cloudy with little temperature change.

A bright sun greeted the city early this morning, despite a forecast of overcast skies. The warming trend moved into the area Saturday afternoon and continued Sunday, with readings that approached the 40's.

Chester Burglary Solved As 3 Young Men Confess

The burglary of a Chester concern over a week ago has been cleared up by the confessions of three young men, one from the Chester area, who are being held in the Allegheny County Jail at Pittsburgh in connection with various offenses in the areas of Moon and Finley Townships.

Acting Police Chief Clarence Lennens of Chester said Matthew J. Stipec Jr., 19, of Windsor Heights, near Chester, Albert A. Abbott, 21, of Bulger, Pa., and William McGivern, 23, of Midway, Pa., have confessed to the theft of tires from the Hobbs Tire Service, 229 2nd St., Chester, the night of Feb. 10.

Lennens obtained felony warrants against the three Sunday from Squire Eugene Allison of Chester. He has placed detainers against the three.

They are being held at Allegheny County Jail for Grand Jury action on charges of breaking and entering.

The three were picked up Thursday by Pennsylvania State Police from the Carnegie Barracks in connection with the burglary of a garage in Moon Township. They were questioned Thursday and Friday afternoons by State Police and police from Moon and Finley Townships.

Authorities said they admitted several breaking and enterings, two car thefts and a strong-armed robbery.

Flu Spreads Over Nation, Schools Hit

By The Associated Press

Some schools closed and hospitals in several cities suspended visiting hours today in a grim effort to slow the spread of influenza.

A physician in Albany, N.Y., who recently visited Baltimore was the only confirmed case of Asian flu in upstate New York where at least seven schools closed for part of last week.

The health commission of Milwaukee, Dr. E. R. Krumbiegel, predicted an Asian flu outbreak would reach epidemic proportions in that city.

Visiting hours were suspended until further notice at Memphis, Tenn., city hospitals where more than 500 patients were treated for upper respiratory infections.

Senator Says GOP Will Continue Watchdog Role

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa said today Republicans intend to continue to "call attention to the failures, weakness and confusion" of Kennedy administration foreign policies.

Hickenlooper, who heads the Senate Republican Policy Committee, accused the Democrats of glossing over the hemispheric danger presented by the Soviet military bastion in Cuba.

"The Republicans are not going to follow blindly a mistaken and troublesome policy," he said in an interview. "We intend to continue to call attention to the failures, weaknesses and confusion of recent policies. All you have to do is to look around the world to see something is wrong."

Although he did not couch it as such, the statements of Hickenlooper—senior GOP member of the Foreign Relations Committee—obviously were made in answer to charges by Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., that Republicans were endangering free world unity by "divisive partisanship and irresponsible attacks on our nation's foreign policy."

Shadows Economy Moves

Lush Offices Haunt Congressmen

WASHINGTON (AP)—The vast shadow of a new House office building lies across Capitol Hill these days, and across the desks of members busily seeking ways to whittle President Kennedy's budget.

Those who pause in their pursuit of economy to look at the massive marble structure, still uncompleted, may find themselves haunted by the words of the late Rep. Russell Mack, R-Wash.

"How can any member of the House hereafter criticize the administration for extravagant spending if we ourselves vote approval of this grandiose project?" Mack asked.

How grandiose is the project turning out to be?

When ready for use in about 18 months, the new building with its three-room office suites for 169 members will have cost $83 million. The members who move into it will be getting their quarters, along with added facilities of the building, at a cost of $483,000 each.

Renovation of the present House office buildings to enlarge their two-room offices to three rooms will bring the total cost of the project to about $100 million.

Since the original aim was to provide an extra room for each of the 435 members, the txapayers will be spending $230,000 per added office room.

It was back in 1957 when Rep. Mack asked his question about extravagant spending on the project. The new office building then was just a gleam in the eye of Speaker Sam Rayburn. A huge hole marked its site.

Mack's question went unanswered. No answer was really needed after Rayburn stated firmly during the 1957 debate: "I know better than any other man in the House that we need this additional room."

Today a 10-story structure—named the Rayburn Building in honor of the late speaker and covering two city blocks—rises from the site that had only a large hole in 1957.

The building also will have a swimming pool, nine committee rooms, a cafeteria and five private dining rooms. There will be parking space for 1,600 cars.

Each suite really has a fourth room for a receptionist, and also includes two bathrooms and a built-in refrigerator. The committee rooms will rival movie palaces in elegance and space.

Once the new building is occupied the two existing office buildings will get a top-to-bottom renovation at an estimated cost of $18.5 million. Each member in these will be provided with a three-room suite.

Expansion has not been limited to the House side of the Capitol. The Senate added a second building a few years ago for $25 million, giving each senator at least five rooms, and some, seven.

Fight Flares Over PUC's Release Of 3

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Open disagreement flared today between the Public Utilities Commission's Democratic member, Miss Frances McGovern, and the Republican majority, Chairman Carl R. Johnson and Commissioner J. Warren Bettis.

Miss McGovern, incensed by the firings Friday of three commission staff people, charged politics is taking precedence over public service.

Johnson and Bettis countered with the view that "creation of small departments and sections throughout the commission (has led) directly to piling red tape on red tape and slowing down the work of the commission. . ."

Miss McGovern is a holdover DiSalle administration appointee. Johnson and Bettis became commissioners last month on appointments by Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Miss McGovern called a press conference today to register her dismay at developments in the commission under the new administration. After getting her side, newsmen then heard from Johnson in his adjoining office.

The fuss followed notification given the three employes Friday afternoon by Sam Nicola, newly appointed secretary of the PUCO, that Friday was their last working day. The three are William W. Lindsay, Robert A. Strickoing and Basil J. Boritzki.

Warm Trend Will Clear Ice

Bouncing Mercury To Climb Into 40's

Bouncing from one extreme to another, the mercury is scheduled to climb into the mid-40's today, producing temperatures that will help remove an accumulation of ice remaining from a long series of winter storms.

The mercury hit an overnight low of 34 degrees in downtown East Liverpool, 38 degrees warmer than the low of minus 4 shown Saturday.

Suburban areas registered 28 this morning, a gain of 41 degrees over the 13 below reported Saturday.

The mercury will climb to 40-46 degrees today and the low tonight will be 28-33.

The forecaster said Tuesday will be cloudy with little temperature change.

A bright sun greeted the city early this morning, despite a forecast of overcast skies. The warming trend moved into the area Saturday afternoon and continued Sunday, with readings that approached the 40's.

Chester Burglary Solved As 3 Young Men Confess

The burglary of a Chester concern over a week ago has been cleared up by the confessions of three young men, one from the Chester area, who are being held in the Allegheny County Jail at Pittsburgh in connection with various offenses in the areas of Moon and Finley Townships.

Acting Police Chief Clarence Lennens of Chester said Matthew J. Stipec Jr., 19, of Windsor Heights, near Chester, Albert A. Abbott, 21, of Bulger, Pa., and William McGivern, 23, of Midway, Pa., have confessed to the theft of tires from the Hobbs Tire Service, 229 2nd St., Chester, the night of Feb. 10.

Lennens obtained felony warrants against the three Sunday from Squire Eugene Allison of Chester. He has placed detainers against the three.

They are being held at Allegheny County Jail for Grand Jury action on charges of breaking and entering.

The three were picked up Thursday by Pennsylvania State Police from the Carnegie Barracks in connection with the burglary of a garage in Moon Township. They were questioned Thursday and Friday afternoons by State Police and police from Moon and Finley Townships.

Authorities said they admitted several breaking and enterings, two car thefts and a strong-armed robbery.

Senator Says GOP Will Continue Watchdog Role

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa said today Republicans intend to continue to "call attention to the failures, weakness and confusion" of Kennedy administration foreign policies.

Hickenlooper, who heads the Senate Republican Policy Committee, accused the Democrats of glossing over the hemispheric danger presented by the Soviet military bastion in Cuba.

"The Republicans are not going to follow blindly a mistaken and troublesome policy," he said in an interview. "We intend to continue to call attention to the failures, weaknesses and confusion of recent policies. All you have to do is to look around the world to see something is wrong."

Although he did not couch it as such, the statements of Hickenlooper—senior GOP member of the Foreign Relations Committee—obviously were made in answer to charges by Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., that Republicans were endangering free world unity by "divisive partisanship and irresponsible attacks on our nation's foreign policy."

Shadows Economy Moves

Lush Offices Haunt Congressmen

WASHINGTON (AP)—The vast shadow of a new House office building lies across Capitol Hill these days, and across the desks of members busily seeking ways to whittle President Kennedy's budget.

Those who pause in their pursuit of economy to look at the massive marble structure, still uncompleted, may find themselves haunted by the words of the late Rep. Russell Mack, R-Wash.

"How can any member of the House hereafter criticize the administration for extravagant spending if we ourselves vote approval of this grandiose project?" Mack asked.

How grandiose is the project turning out to be?

When ready for use in about 18 months, the new building with its three-room office suites for 169 members will have cost $83 million. The members who move into it will be getting their quarters, along with added facilities of the building, at a cost of $483,000 each.

Renovation of the present House office buildings to enlarge their two-room offices to three rooms will bring the total cost of the project to about $100 million.

Since the original aim was to provide an extra room for each of the 435 members, the taxpayers will be spending $230,000 per added office room.

It was back in 1957 when Rep. Mack asked his question about extravagant spending on the project. The new office building then was just a gleam in the eye of Speaker Sam Rayburn. A huge hole marked its site.

Mack's question went unanswered. No answer was really needed after Rayburn stated firmly during the 1957 debate: "I know better than any other man in the House that we need this additional room."

Today a 10-story structure—named the Rayburn Building in honor of the late speaker and covering two city blocks—rises from the site that had only a large hole in 1957.

The building also will have a swimming pool, nine committee rooms, a cafeteria and five private dining rooms. There will be parking space for 1,600 cars.

Each suite really has a fourth room for a receptionist, and also includes two bathrooms and a built-in refrigerator. The committee rooms will rival movie palaces in elegance and space.

Once the new building is occupied the two existing office buildings will get a top-to-bottom renovation at an estimated cost of $18.5 million. Each member in these will be provided with a three-room suite.

Expansion has not been limited to the House side of the Capitol. The Senate added a second building a few years ago for $25 million, giving each senator at least five rooms, and some, seven.

Hancock Auto Mishap Hurts 2 City Women

Two city women were injured in one of four separate traffic crashes in Hancock County over the weekend, the office of Sheriff Joseph H. Manypenny reported.

Three of the crashes occured Sunday and the other was Saturday afternoon, sheriff's deputies said.

The local women were passengers in a 1951 sedan driven by Richard Herron, 35, of Pughtown, deputies said.

Herron's car was struck in the rear by another driven by William J. McAvoy Jr., 32, of Chester R. D. 1 at 2:45 a. m. Sunday on State Route 2, a short distance south of the intersection with Route 30.

Violet Burson, 36, of 201 Baum St., is in "fair" condition today at City Hospital with possible hip injuries, while Grace McAfee, 35, of the same address was treated for abrasions of the lower left leg and multiple contusions.

Deputies said the accident happened as Herron pulled from a driveway onto Route 2 and was struck in the rear by McAvoy's car, also northbound. Herron escaped unhurt. McAvoy was cited on a charge of driving while intoxicated, deputies said.

In another mishap Sunday morning at 2:30, Theodore J. Boyer, 19, of Burgettstown escaped unhurt when his 1955 auto flipped over on Route 66, a half - mile north of Waterford Park race track.

His car was demolished. Boyer was cited on a charge of reckless operation and is due a hearing before Squire Harry Lytton of Newell, the sheriff's office said.

Drivers from East Liverpool and Parma were involved in a two-car crash Sunday afternoon at 2 at the summit of the Route 30 grade east of Chester.

Deputies said a 1950 car driven by Carol Ann Wollam, 21, of Parma was halted for traffic ahead when it was struck in the rear by another driven by Sandra Gale Atkins, 22, of 1541 Globe St. The brake lights on the Parma driver's car were not working properly, deputies said.

Deputies estimated $90 damage to each car. Neither woman was injured and no charges were filed.

In Saturday's lone mishap, a sedan driven by Dean Stevens, 27, of Petersburg struck a 1959 pickup truck of Richard Crosser, 24, of East Liverpool on a curve on Fairview Rd., a half - mile west of Route 2, near Chester.

Stevens was cited on a charge of reckless operation and posted $50 bond for a hearing before Squire Lytton. There was $600 damage to the vehicles, deputies said.

Man Fined And Jailed For Drunken Driving

A city man was fined and jailed for driving while under the influence of alcohol at a hearing this morning before Mayor William Daugherty of Wellsville.

James Flowers, 724 St. Clair Ave., pleaded guilty and was fined $200 and costs and sentenced to three days in jail.

Flowers also pleaded guilty to resisting arrest and was fined $50 and costs.

Police said Flowers was arrested Sunday at 12:40 a. m. on Wells Ave., Wellsville.

Keep In Trim

Successful Reducers Inspire Others

How do most successful reducers come to start a diet? Waking up some rainy morning, do they decide out of the gray that this would be just the day to begin reducing? Probably never.

Ida Jean Kain

When the habit of overeating has been fixed for years, it almost always takes a salutary jolt to start an overweight on the slimming path. To be effective, the jolt must be followed by an inner decision and a firm resolve to get back to healthy, normal weight. Often there is a struggle at first and there are hungry moments when the dieter wonders whether reducing is worth it.

But letters prove that the rewards exceed all expectation — the most satisfying being a triumphant sense of achievement. Excerpts from the letter of one such reducer are typical.

"TWO YEARS ago I was considered the fair, fat and forty type. It was true, too. I was 40 and weighed 170 pounds for my 5-foot-3 height and my dress size varied between an 18½ and a 20.

"I huffed and puffed all the time and felt worn out after being on my feet eight hours a day.

"At that time I began taking treatments for headaches and about the first thing the doctor told me was that I was getting the fat lady's dowager hump. I suddenly felt terribly old. But that did it! I resolved to get rid of the hump and the excess pounds, no matter what.

"I made up my mind definitely to reduce and to do it without taking pills to curb my appetite as so many of my friends were doing—unsuccessfully.

"Today, two years later, I weigh 128 to 130 pounds and wear a size 13 dress. Also, that dowager's hump has gone with the pounds. But far more important is the sense of pride I have in my achievement — and the family is so proud of Mom's new figure."

I salute this courageous reducer. Instead of being irked with the doctor, she turned his remark to her advantage, took off 40 unhealthy pounds and slimmed down some seven sizes.

BY REDUCING slowly she has established good food habits that will help to keep her weight down. It is safe to say she will never again loose her lovely figure.

Legion Committee In Beaver Gets Data On Essay Contests

Reports on the current essay contests being conducted in Beaver County schools, including Midland High School, were heard at a meeting of the Beaver County committee of the American Legion, the sponsoring group, at a meeting Friday evening at the Aliquippa post home.

Fred Perricelli, county commander, presided. The essay theme is "Is the American High School Student Sufficiently Appraised of the Basic Principles of Our Democratic Form of Government?"

William Reehl of the West Bridgewater post, chairman of the essay project, announced that the essays are to be turned over to him by March 1.

The English department of Geneva College in Beaver Falls will judge the essays on the county level. The winner will receive a $50 Savings Bond and a plaque will be presented to the school he or she represents.

Congressman Frank E. Clark will present the district winner's award at a district meeting April 27. The place will be announced later.

The 1963 Beaver County Veteran's Day celebration in November will be held in Rochester.

Oscar C. Karburg of Beaver, membership chairman, announced that the county membership to date is 13,921.

Reporting for the memorial and grave committee, Truman E. Rodfong of Midland said a complete list of decorative items will be available in time to decorate the graves.

Titan Blast Seen Partial Success For Silo Launch

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The Air Force says the first silo launching of its big Titan 2 was a partial success —despite the fact that it exploded in the sky and chunks of flaming debris showered down on the base below.

Most of the shattered parts fell into the sea, but some small pieces, blown by the wind, sent newsmen and civilian contractors scurrying after the missile destroyed itself Saturday. No one was injured.

The Titan 2 blew up 56 seconds after launch, at an altitude of 18,000 feet. An Air Force spokesman said the Titan blew itself up —apparently because an automatic signal in its guidance system indicated a malfunction somewhere aboard.

It was the first time the Titan 2, this nation's most powerful intercontinental missile, was fired from its bombproof, underground silo.

"TWO YEARS ago I was considered the fair, fat and forty type. It was true, too. I was 40 and weighed 170 pounds for my 5-foot-3 height and my dress size varied between an 18½ and a 20.

"I huffed and puffed all the time and felt worn out after being on my feet eight hours a day.

"At that time I began taking treatments for headaches and about the first thing the doctor told me was that I was getting the fat lady's dowager hump. I suddenly felt terribly old. But that did it! I resolved to get rid of the hump and the excess pounds, no matter what.

"I made up my mind definitely to reduce and to do it without taking pills to curb my appetite as so many of my friends were doing—unsuccessfully.

"Today, two years later, I weigh 128 to 130 pounds and wear a size 13 dress. Also, that dowager's hump has gone with the pounds. But far more important is the sense of pride I have in my achievement — and the family is so proud of Mom's new figure."

I salute this courageous reducer. Instead of being irked with the doctor, she turned his remark to her advantage, took off 40 unhealthy pounds and slimmed down some seven sizes.

BY REDUCING slowly she has established good food habits that will help to keep her weight down. It is safe to say she will never again loose her lovely figure.

Legion Committee In Beaver Gets Data On Essay Contests

Reports on the current essay contests being conducted in Beaver County schools, including Midland High School, were heard at a meeting of the Beaver County committee of the American Legion, the sponsoring group, at a meeting Friday evening at the Aliquippa post home.

Fred Perricelli, county commander, presided. The essay theme is "Is the American High School Student Sufficiently Appraised of the Basic Principles of Our Democratic Form of Government?"

William Reehl of the West Bridgewater post, chairman of the essay project, announced that the essays are to be turned over to him by March 1.

The English department of Geneva College in Beaver Falls will judge the essays on the county level. The winner will receive a $50 Savings Bond and a plaque will be presented to the school he or she represents.

Congressman Frank E. Clark will present the district winner's award at a district meeting April 27. The place will be announced later.

The 1963 Beaver County Veteran's Day celebration in November will be held in Rochester.

Oscar C. Karburg of Beaver, membership chairman, announced that the county membership to date is 13,921.

Reporting for the memorial and grave committee, Truman E. Rodfong of Midland said a complete list of decorative items will be available in time to decorate the graves.

Titan Blast Seen Partial Success For Silo Launch

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The Air Force says the first silo launching of its big Titan 2 was a partial success —despite the fact that it exploded in the sky and chunks of flaming debris showered down on the base below.

Most of the shattered parts fell into the sea, but some small pieces, blown by the wind, sent newsmen and civilian contractors scurrying after the missile destroyed itself Saturday. No one was injured.

The Titan 2 blew up 56 seconds after launch, at an altitude of 18,000 feet. An Air Force spokesman said the Titan blew itself up —apparently because an automatic signal in its guidance system indicated a malfunction somewhere aboard.

It was the first time the Titan 2, this nation's most powerful intercontinental missile, was fired from its bombproof, underground silo.

The FBI Shows The Way

The Jockey Club, which has been thumbing its nose at West Virginia law enforcement agencies for some time with disgusting success, has found the federal authorities much tougher to handle.

It took the FBI to crack down on the notorious gambling spot in Hancock County.

In case there still could be any possible doubt in the minds of West Virginia officials as to the club's purpose, these are some of the items which the raiders carted away after swooping down on the busy casino on Route 30 near the Pennsylvania-West Virginia line: Slot machines, roulette wheels, dice tables and a blackjack table.

Put them all together and they spell ILLEGAL GAMBLING in capital letters.

The weekend raid was a slap in the face to those entrusted with law enforcement in West Virginia. When outside agencies are forced to take over and tackle a situation which has operated openly, there's something wrong.

In view of the disgraceful record already written into the books in the Northern Panhandle, it will take some time for West Virginia authorities to save face. But save face they can if they will follow the FBI's lead and begin cracking down on illicit enterprises on their own.

They owe it to themselves and to the people of West Virginia to do so.

Shady establishments such as the Jockey Club bring nothing but discredit to the state. They should be closed permanently.

Medical Progress

Plans for a new nurses' home and other improvements at City Hospital fit in well with hopes for progress on many fronts locally.

Adequate care for the sick is a prime requisite for any forward - moving community.

The construction that will be done at City Hospital and the expansion program already under way at the Osteopathic Hospital will help meet an ever - increasing need in the field of medical care.

Will There Be Time?

Our New Frontiersmen have been consistent in their declarations about time. They never think of it, as the late John Foster Dulles liked to think of it, as an element on their side, requiring only patience to make it their ally.

In their eagerness to get the country into faster motion than they claimed it had been in under an aging and well-seasoned Dwight Eisenhower they tackled everything as if it had to be done immediately.

The political situation that confronted them, with no popular mandate and no workable majority in Congress, made it necessary to put on a demonstration of hustle-bustle to conceal the weakness of their position relative to Congress and the people.

WHEN AN obdurate and unimpressed Congress refused to hustle-bustle, the damage to their program was the fortunes of domestic politics.

But when obdurate and unimpressed foreign powers refuses to hustle-bustle to suit the New Frontier pace, the damage is not limited to a political program or a political party. It extends to the international position of the United States.

The United States has never been noted for the skill of its diplomacy. This has been a point of pride at times with American, especially those who do not distinguish between skill like that practiced by Benjamin Franklin and striped-pants fopperies that have hurt the good name of diplomacy in modern times.

The question is whether the wrong touch in diplomacy may do major damage to the United States if uncorrected.

IN FOREIGN governments, diplomacy is played for keeps. In all settled governments, the game is carried on by experts—seasoned, intensively trained careerists who work as hard at diplomacy as American's new breed of professional politicians work at getting elected and re-elected.

It is an axiom in Washington that foreign policy sooner or later trips up every administration; that it takes more time to learn the ropes than ever is granted under the turnover system of key figures in U.S. government.

The question is, will there be time for the New Frontiersmen to get the hang of this aspect of their responsibilities?

Sympathy For A Subcommittee

Members of the Ohio Judiciary subcommittee drafting a new Blue Law to supplant the provisions that have been causing confusion throughout the state deserve all the sympathy they can get.

Their problem is to keep from causing as much confusion with a new law as was caused by the old law when local officials tried to enforce it.

Unless they are careful, they will substitute new confusions for old confusions. Take, for example, a proposal to keep real estate deals from being closed on Sunday in Ohio.

Agents and individuals offering real estate for sale could show it to a customer on Sunday but could not sell it, according to a proposal prepared for Ohio's new Blue Law.

Who is going to determine what constitutes the act of selling and buying in this situation? How are enforcement officials going to draw a line that will make it impossible for a potential purchaser to make a commitment that might take the form of good-faith money to hold a property off the market until Monday? What about potential buyers from out of town?

Another proposal would make it illegal to sell a car or a piece of furniture on Sunday if selling cars and furniture is the seller's occupation, yet would make the sale legal if the seller were making a casual or isolated sale.

What would be the ruling on a part-time dealer in antiques with a Sunday customer on the string? How about a part-time car salesman?

Subcommittee members will need sympathy. Ohioans in general will need sympathy if the upshot of the Blue Law controversy is to replace an old set of confusions with a new set. By the time the new set had been tested in the courts with willy-nilly rulings one way and the other, Ohio would be ready for another rewriting of its Blue Law.

Letter From Max

By Martin Miller

Dear Truman Twill:

As an old horse fancier, you must get a kick out of the legacy left us by that noble beast even though most horses have long since gone to the dogs.

Some of us can remember when fire engines were drawn by red horses, milk wagons by white horses and garbage wagons by mottled horses. Now, the only place you ever find real live horses is at a track, dude ranch, riding academy, or in a few private barns.

But the horse is with us more than we realize. We drive cars that have horses under the hood and a wagon on the back—a station wagon.

We like to think we are more modern than next season's fashions, but it makes one laugh to realize how much we are still living in the horse-and-buggy era, whose passing was mourned chiefly by sparrows.

Take this term "horsepower," which we toss around when discussing our cars. A horsepower is an amount of work equal to lifting 33,000 pounds one foot per minute.

The usual way of stating it is 33,000 foot-pounds per minute, which also could be interpreted as the number of times a horse's feet pound the ground.

Horsepower as a measurement was developed by James Watt who died in 1819, which goes to show you how far behind the times we are in our terminology.

Next to car salesmen, engineers probably are the people who mention horsepower more often than anyone else. Engineers originally built and tended engines but nowadays they have proliferated until you not only have engine engineers but electrical engineers, mechanical, stationary and stationery engineers, refrigeration, heating, air-conditioning, sanitary and a host of other engineers.

Besides thinking up that horse-and-buggy term "horsepower," James Watt is remembered for the "watt", a unit of power. Other men's names gave us the venerable "ohm," "volt" and "ampere."

If we want to be up to date, we should be able to do better than that. As a starter how about instead of horsepower we said cadillacpower, fordpower, chevvypower or something in accord with our civilization. Our language is a living and growing thing. It should keep pace with other phases of our life.

Mr. Watt contributed greatly to development of the steam engine as well as perpetuating the memory of the horse.

Since that time, we have had the invention of the internal combustion engine and the electric motor, both saddled with their four-legged predecessor's horsepower. Many of us still refer to "steamshovels," which long ago passed out of existence.

It looks as though we may finally be throwing off this yoke in the atomic age. Rockets are powered by pounds of "thrust" and bombs are measured in "megatons."

Come to think of it, horsepower may be a nicer term at that. It goes back to the day of the buggy.

Faithfully yours,
MAX

This and That

The four presidential busts on Mount Rushmore, in South Dakota, comprise the world's largest completed sculpture. The statues erode at about the rate of one inch in 10,000 years. The weather also causes cracks in the granite which are filled with a mixture of granite dust, white lead and linseed oil.

When the hygienic custom of brushing the teeth was introduced into France in about 1777 it met with considerable ridicule. Some of the people of that time kept their teeth healthy by gnawing on bones.

50-Mile Hikers Are Pikers

Cuba Readies Subversive Program

By Victor Riesel

Sovietized Cuba is preparing for wars. Not declared wars, but subversive wars starting deep inside such lands as Venezuela, Panama and even mammoth Brazil. Any industrial "detective" can tell you this.

Victor Riesel

Once you know what new factories are springing up; what plants are being thrown on a 24-hour basis; how readily they can be converted swiftly to the manufacture of weapons and support materiel; and what they are producing now—then you know immediately where this land is heading and what terror the red chiefs of staff plan to export.

So it is not only what Cuba is importing. It's what it's building. Conversations this columnist has had with anti-Castro construction experts slipping in and out of Cuba reveal the rapid creation of a Castroite war industry.

DETAILED REPORTS, for example, on the new "Havana Bay fishing port" have just been brought into our country. Russian technicians right now are getting it into full construction.

When the "port" is finished by the "end of the year" it will be able to handle 154 to 160 ships of any kind—at one time. It will have freezer plants big enough to hold 10,000 tons of fish or other foods, certainly sufficient to replenish hundreds of red galleys on submarines, fighting craft and electronic monitoring "trawlers."

It will have built-in factories for processing special foods.

There will be an enormous floating dock for instant repairs—also "many well-equipped repair shops."

This is merely one project. Another which has fascinated the anti-Fidelista underground is a "technological mining and machinery school." When finished it will be the first of its kind in all of Latin America.

It will be housed in three big buildings in El Cristo, Oriente. And to get them up quickly the Soviet technical teams have ordered Cuban construction workers on a 'round-the-clock schedule.'

THERE WILL be courses in 14 specialties. Of particular interest are the ones for the handling of explosives. Trusted Cubans will be taught the development, handling and nursing of compressors, key machine tools and special "loading and unloading techniques."

It should be remembered that all this industrial frenzy over the production and care of hardware is being pushed at a moment when the people are starving, food crops are going unharvested and "people's inspectors" are killing hoarders.

There was once a little man with a brush mustache who roared for guns, not butter. Now the man with the beard has changed that a bit—to gun potential, not butter.

The goal is to be self-contained. In Santiago, Cuba, for instance, Czech technicians are directing the construction of a transport training school. Soon 600 young Cubans will be taught to handle lathes, tool grinders and drill presses.

WITHIN a few weeks, five Cubans will fly to Czechoslovakia for extended training in managing such a plant. In turn 25 Czech specialists will fly to Havana in June to "instruct the 61 Cuban professors who will form the teaching staff of the school."

When the five Cubans return from Prague later this year they will direct the institution. Cozy arrangement. It goes for scores of such projects.

There is something called the Cuban "Consolidated Aviation Enterprise." For some time now it has had eight specialists learning the care of IL14 Soviet planes near Moscow.

The eight returned at the end of January. Their assignment is to pass on their knowledge to burgeoning Cuban ground crews. Obviously they are being prepared to handle bombers.

Thus when "The Day" comes for the withdrawal of Soviet military manpower from the island, there will be Cuban bomber pilots and ground crews to handle marauding craft. Wait and see.

THIS IS one vast Prince Potemkin operation—all developing behind a false front of civilian technology. Soviet, Czech, Bulgarian and Peking Chinese engineers are everywhere. They build a hydro-electric dam in the Sierra Maestra near Camilo Cienfuegos. They operate a new shipbuilding yard in the port of Cienfuegos. They install power plants.

Everywhere they are surrounded by Cuban youths who were kids when Fidel took over. They too are a war industry.

Someday it will be written that here it all began. This is where they prepared the invasions from within. Then, we will wonder, as we do about the Saar, or the Sudeten, or Munich, why we did nothing.

Now the civilized world justifiably wonders what is there to do about it?

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

Will you please print this to clarify what I meant when I wrote before? There have been so many questions asked.

First of all, just the other night in the paper was an appeal to people to clear their sidewalks. I guess some people don't read the paper. In the cities of any size the law is that all sidewalks must be cleared or pay a fine. Here people are not made to do so. That is why I said the city should clean them. The curbs are the city's problem, at least I feel so.

Next the law states we must send our children to school. For which I am for. But children are children and haven't any thought of danger. They do not realize how very dangerous that the snow on top of the ice can be until they are hurt.

So I feel that we as parents are the ones who have to teach our children what is dangerous and in doing so we also should teach them right from wrong. How can we do this when bad examples are set? Why do we have to wait until our children are hurt before doing anything?

Next, I, as a parent, feel we are very fortunate to have a guard like Mrs. Williams who has our children's safety in her hands and realizes it. She doesn't stand on the curb to see our children across the street. She stands right in the middle of St. Clair. So we should all be very grateful to have her. And I truly think it a shame when the people do not respect her for the person she is and hit the water holes and in doing so wet her all over. Believe me it is cold standing out there.

I sure hope this clears up what I was trying to prove. I, myself, am not trying to prove anything. I am only trying to show people we are trying to protect our children. We love them and worry about them if others don't.

Factions, Little Action

By James Marlow

Dissension Marks Home,, Foreign Scene

WASHINGTON

Factions but not much action, all around.

Nothing much so far in 1963 seems to have gotten off the ground in Washington except the Republicans' attack on the Kennedy administration's handling of foreign policy, particularly Cuba.

Abroad—

Spat and chat in the allied family. President Kennedy says it's due in part to the Russians, because they're quieter. He said "we're enjoying the luxury of internal dissension." But the spat, if it gets bad enough, can wreck the family.

Spat and chat in the Communist family, too. Russians and Red Chinese call names, express disgust with each other, but Premier Khrushchev drools over the Chinese ambassador. If the spat gets bad enough, goodby Communist family.

Grumbling but not much excitement in Congress when Kennedy sends his record peacetime budget: $98.8 billion. The usual cries: expenses must be cut. Not much fire in the fuss.

Kennedy sends Congress his aid to education program, will soon send one on medical care for the aged. Comparative calm in Congress. Neither program seems to have much chance. No wonder. Kennedy himself was skeptical of their chances before he ever sent them to the Hill.

Kennedy sends Congress his tax-cutting program to enable consumers to buy more and business to invest more. This got the most reaction and much, if not most of it, has been sour.

To help it, Kennedy supporters hit on the feeble idea of trying to add two more members to the conservative Senate Finance Committee to liberalize it. The result: defeat. This is not fighting, this is sparring.

Business chimes in on the opposite side. Ladd Plumley, president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, says the plan favors the consumer too much. Amen, says the National Association of Manufacturers.

The only real heat so far this year comes from the Republican criticism of Kennedy's foreign doings. It's been unceasing. Irritated, Kennedy is having his supporters tell the Republicans to pipe down. They won't. He stays mild.

In short, Kennedy isn't showing any more sign of tough fighting—the kind former President Truman used to enjoy—than he did in 1961 or 1962.

With Canada—because it didn't put American nuclear warheads on American missiles there. With France — because President Charles de Gaulle snubbed the Kennedy offer of missiles on which he'd have to put his own warheads, of which he doesn't have any.

At the same time De Gaulle, whose high-held nose was pointed at the British, too, kept them out of the Common Market. The result: ever since the Allies have been scrambling for a solution which they haven't found.

Kennedy is trying to set up what he calls a multinational nuclear force although no one—and at this moment perhaps not Kennedy himself—seems to know how this would work because American law requires American control of American nuclear weapons no matter where they are.

And, if things weren't boxed and bottled enough, the Americans and Russians are back where they started years ago on banning nuclear tests: in a sparring match.

Shattered Illusions

By Raymond Moley

The point of this piece is not to add to the volume of useless speculation about a Republican presidential candidate in 1964, but to offer some observations on what is sometimes called progress.

Two sorts of progressive changes limit seriously the capacity of aspirants to achieve that coveted nomination. One has to do with changes in the laws which were enacted mostly in what was called the progressive era, half a century ago. The other marks of progress appear in physical means of communication and transportation.

Since the latter have been the product of science and engineering and have been accepted as wonderful by all concerned, we can't do much about them. But so far as the laws are concerned and their effects after 50-odd years of trial, we may be warned that we should, in accepting reforms, let our brains, rather than our emotions, guide us.

Back in the years extending roughly from the election of William H. Taft in 1908 to the sinking of the Lusitania in 1915, when our hearts were young and gay and agriculture supported us rather than vice versa, we decided to do something about our political institutions.

BRILLIANT figures fired our imaginations with denunciations of the "old order" and the need for more "democracy."

Some of them inspired me then and still elicit my admiration, despite what came of their plans. Among those figures might be mentioned Robert M. LaFollette, Charles Evans Hughes, Hiram Johnson and Woodrow Wilson.

The core of their philosophy was that representative government had failed us, that big business was bad, and that political parties were run by evil men.

The remedy, they told us, was to let the people nominate public officials directly and to shackle the political parties so that they would have no further responsibility for our public servants.

There were substantial elements of truth in the indictment. But the remedies proposed failed to take into account the oldest political fact in the world, the mental and moral limitations of pure democracy — limitations which were amply delineated in the writings of philosophers from Aristotle to the authors of The Federalist.

It seems to be the rule now that an aspirant must campaign actively in one or a few. This takes money and energy. An aspirant must also create a popular demand by stumping in many other states, since the party organizations are generally so weakened by "progressive" laws that they are unable to make a considered selection themselves.

VAST PUBLIC relations operations are needed. Also, there are hired pollsters to employ not only in the primaries but in the campaign after the nomination.

When a president is to be a candidate for renomination or, as in Nixon's case, where he occupies a unique position as the president's favorite, such activities are unnecessary. But aspirants in a party out of power have all these necessities to fulfill.

They must have a large personal fortune or have financial sources which will be heavy liabilities after election.

New methods of communication and transportation not only require great sums of money but create demands which can be met only by a man of immense physical and gastronomic capabilities.

So the candidate in 1964, it seems, should be under 55 and should be willing to give his time for a year or more to the task. If he has a public responsibility now, he must neglect it. Also, he must be photogenic on television and a capable actor before crowds.

Amid such requirements, proved intellectual capacities and experience in large affairs are relatively unimportant. People are nominated to be elected, and they must be chosen democratically.

And so the progressive ideal, which was to take money power out of politics, has made money indispensable — much money, lavishly spent.

Adequate care for the sick is a prime requisite for any forward - moving community.

The construction that will be done at City Hospital and the expansion program already under way at the Osteopathic Hospital will help meet an ever - increasing need in the field of medical care.

Will There Be Time?

Our New Frontiersmen have been consistent in their declarations about time. They never tnink of it, as the late John Foster Dulles liked to think of it, as an element on their side, requiring only patience to make it their ally.

In their eagerness to get the country into faster motion than they claimed it had been in under an aging and well-seasoned Dwight Eisenhower they tackled everything as if it had to be done immediately.

The political situation that confronted them, with no popular mandate and no workable majority in Congress, made it necessary to put on a demonstration of hustle-bustle to conceal the weakness of their position relative to Congress and the people.

WHEN AN obdurate and unimpressed Congress refused to hustle-bustle, the damage to their program was the fortunes of domestic politics.

But when obdurate and unimpressed foreign powers refuses to hustle-bustle to suit the New Frontier pace, the damage is not limited to a political program or a political party. It extends to the international position of the United States.

The United States has never been noted for the skill of its diplomacy. This has been a point of pride at times with American, especially those who do not distinguish between skill like that practiced by Benjamin Franklin and striped-pants fopperies that have hurt the good name of diplomacy in modern times.

The question is whether the wrong touch in diplomacy may do major damage to the United States if uncorrected.

IN FOREIGN governments, diplomacy is played for keeps. In all settled governments, the game is carried on by experts—seasoned, intensively trained careerists who work as hard at diplomacy as American's new breed of professional politicians work at getting elected and re-elected.

It is an axiom in Washington that foreign policy sooner or later trips up every administration; that it takes more time to learn the ropes than ever is granted under the turnover system of key figures in U.S. government.

The question is, will there be time for the New Frontiersmen to get the hang of this aspect of their responsibilities?

Sympathy For A Subcommittee

Members of the Ohio Judiciary subcommittee drafting a new Blue Law to supplant the provisions that have been causing confusion throughout the state deserve all the sympathy they can get.

Their problem is to keep from causing as much confusion with a new law as was caused by the old law when local officials tried to enforce it.

Unless they are careful, they will substitute new confusions for old confusions. Take, for example, a proposal to keep real estate deals from being closed on Sunday in Ohio.

Agents and individuals offering real estate for sale could show it to a customer on Sunday but could not sell it, according to a proposal prepared for Ohio's new Blue Law.

Who is going to determine what constitutes the act of selling and buying in this situation? How are enforcement officials going to draw a line that will make it impossible for a potential purchaser to make a commitment that might take the form of good-faith money to hold a property off the market until Monday? What about potential buyers from out of town?

Another proposal would make it illegal to sell a car or a piece of furniture on Sunday if selling cars and furniture is the seller's occupation, yet would make the sale legal if the seller were making a casual or isolated sale.

What would be the ruling on a part-time dealer in antiques with a Sunday customer on the string? How about a part-time car salesman?

Subcommittee members will need sympathy. Ohioans in general will need sympathy if the upshot of the Blue Law controversy is to replace an old set of confusions with a new set. By the time the new set had been tested in the courts with willy-nilly rulings one way and the other, Ohio would be ready for another rewriting of its Blue Law.

Letter From Max

By Martin Miller

Dear Truman Twill:

As an old horse fancier, you must get a kick out of the legacy left us by that noble beast even though most horses have long since gone to the dogs.

Some of us can remember when fire engines were drawn by red horses, milk wagons by white horses and garbage wagons by mottled horses. Now, the only place you ever find real live horses is at a track, dude ranch, riding academy, or in a few private barns.

But the horse is with us more than we realize. We drive cars that have horses under the hood and a wagon on the back—a station wagon.

We like to think we are more modern than next season's fashions, but it makes one laugh to realize how much we are still living in the horse-and-buggy era, whose passing was mourned chiefly by sparrows.

Take this term "horsepower," which we toss around when discussing our cars. A horsepower is an amount of work equal to lifting 33,000 pounds one foot per minute.

The usual way of stating it is 33,000 foot-pounds per minute, which also could be interpreted as the number of times a horse's feet pound the ground.

Horsepower as a measurement was developed by James Watt who died in 1819, which goes to show you how far behind the times we are in our terminology.

Next to car salesmen, engineers probably are the people who mention horsepower more often than anyone else. Engineers originally built and tended engines but nowadays they have proliferated until you not only have engine engineers but electrical engineers, mechanical, stationary and stationery engineers, refrigeration, heating, air-conditioning, sanitary and a host of other engineers.

Besides thinking up that horse-and-buggy term "horsepower," James Watt is remembered for the "watt", a unit of power. Other men's names gave us the venerable "ohm," "volt" and "ampere."

If we want to be up to date, we should be able to do better than that. As a starter how about instead of horsepower we said cadillacpower, fordpower, chevypower or something in accord with our civilization. Our language is a living and growing thing. It should keep pace with other phases of our life.

Mr. Watt contributed greatly to development of the steam engine as well as perpetuating the memory of the horse.

Since that time, we have had the invention of the internal combustion engine and the electric motor, both saddled with their four-legged predecessor's horsepower. Many of us still refer to "steamshovels," which long ago passed out of existence.

It looks as though we may finally be throwing off this yoke in the atomic age. Rockets are powered by pounds of "thrust" and bombs are measured in "megatons."

Come to think of it, horsepower may be a nicer term at that. It goes back to the day of the buggy.

Faithfully yours,
MAX

This and That

The four presidential busts on Mount Rushmore, in South Dakota, comprise the world's largest completed sculpture. The statues erode at about the rate of one inch in 10,000 years. The weather also causes cracks in the granite which are filled with a mixture of granite dust, white lead and linseed oil.

When the hygienic custom of brushing the teeth was introduced into France in about 1777 it met with considerable ridicule. Some of the people of that time kept their teeth healthy by gnawing on bones.

50-Mile Hikers Are Pikers

Cuba Readies Subversive Program

By Victor Riesel

Sovietized Cuba is preparing for wars. Not declared wars, but subversive wars starting deep inside such lands as Venezuela, Panama and even mammoth Brazil. Any industrial "detective" can tell you this.

Victor Riesel

Once you know what new factories are springing up; what plants are being thrown on a 24-hour basis; how readily they can be converted swiftly to the manufacture of weapons and support materiel; and what they are producing now—then you know immediately where this land is heading and what terror the red chiefs of staff plan to export.

So it is not only what Cuba is importing. It's what it's building. Conversations this columnist has had with anti-Castro construction experts slipping in and out of Cuba reveal the rapid creation of a Castroite war industry.

DETAILED REPORTS, for example, on the new "Havana Bay fishing port" have just been brought into our country. Russian technicians right now are getting it into full construction.

When the "port" is finished by the "end of the year" it will be able to handle 154 to 160 ships of any kind—at one time. It will have freezer plants big enough to hold 10,000 tons of fish or other foods, certainly sufficient to replenish hundreds of red galleys on submarines, fighting craft and electronic monitoring "trawlers."

It will have built-in factories for processing special foods.

There will be an enormous floating dock for instant repairs—also "many well-equipped repair shops."

This is merely one project. Another which has fascinated the anti-Fidelista underground is a "technological mining and machinery school." When finished it will be the first of its kind in all of Latin America.

It will be housed in three big buildings in El Cristo, Oriente. And to get them up quickly the Soviet technical teams have ordered Cuban construction workers on a 'round-the-clock schedule.'

THERE WILL be courses in 14 specialties. Of particular interest are the ones for the handling of explosives. Trusted Cubans will be taught the development, handling and nursing of compressors, key machine tools and special "loading and unloading techniques."

It should be remembered that all this industrial frenzy over the production and care of hardware is being pushed at a moment when the people are starving, food crops are going unharvested and "people's inspectors" are killing hoarders.

There was once a little man with a brush mustache who roared for guns, not butter. Now the man with the beard has changed that a bit—to gun potential, not butter.

The goal is to be self-contained. In Santiago, Cuba, for instance, Czech technicians are directing the construction of a transport training school. Soon 600 young Cubans will be taught to handle lathes, tool grinders and drill presses.

WITHIN a few weeks, five Cubans will fly to Czechoslovakia for extended training in managing such a plant. In turn 25 Czech specialists will fly to Havana in June to "instruct the 61 Cuban professors who will form the teaching staff of the school."

When the five Cubans return from Prague later this year they will direct the institution. Cozy arrangement. It goes for scores of such projects.

There is something called the Cuban "Consolidated Aviation Enterprise." For some time now it has had eight specialists learning the care of IL14 Soviet planes near Moscow.

The eight returned at the end of January. Their assignment is to pass on their knowledge to burgeoning Cuban ground crews. Obviously they are being prepared to handle bombers.

Thus when "The Day" comes for the withdrawal of Soviet military manpower from the island, there will be Cuban bomber pilots and ground crews to handle marauding craft. Wait and see.

THIS IS one vast Prince Potemkin operation—all developing behind a false front of civilian technology. Soviet, Czech, Bulgarian and Peking Chinese engineers are everywhere. They build a hydro-electric dam in the Sierra Maestra near Camilo Cienfuegos. They operate a new shipbuilding yard in the port of Cienfuegos. They install power plants.

Everywhere they are surrounded by Cuban youths who were kids when Fidel took over. They too are a war industry.

Someday it will be written that here it all began. This is where they prepared the invasions from within. Then, we will wonder, as we do about the Saar, or the Sudeten, or Munich, why we did nothing.

Now the civilized world justifiably wonders what is there to do about it?

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

Will you please print this to clarify what I meant when I wrote before? There have been so many questions asked.

First of all, just the other night in the paper was an appeal to people to clear their sidewalks. I guess some people don't read the paper. In the cities of any size the law is that all sidewalks must be cleared or pay a fine. Here people are not made to do so. That is why I said the city should clean them. The curbs are the city's problem, at least I feel so.

Next the law states we must send our children to school. For which I am for. But children are children and haven't any thought of danger. They do not realize how very dangerous that the snow on top of the ice can be until they are hurt.

So I feel that we as parents are the ones who have to teach our children what is dangerous and in doing so we also should teach them right from wrong. How can we do this when bad examples are set? Why do we have to wait until our children are hurt before doing anything?

Next, I, as a parent, feel we are very fortunate to have a guard like Mrs. Williams who has our children's safety in her hands and realizes it. She doesn't stand on the curb to see our children across the street. She stands right in the middle of St. Clair. So we should all be very grateful to have her. And I truly think it a shame when the people do not respect her for the person she is and hit the water holes and in doing so wet her all over. Believe me it is cold standing out there.

I sure hope this clears up what I was trying to prove. I, myself, am not trying to prove anything. I am only trying to show people we are trying to protect our children. We love them and worry about them if others don't.

Factions, Little Action

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

Factions but not much action, all around.

Nothing much so far in 1963 seems to have gotten off the ground in Washington except the Republicans' attack on the Kennedy administration's handling of foreign policy, particularly Cuba.

Abroad—

Spat and chat in the allied family. President Kennedy says it's due in part to the Russians, because they're quieter. He said "we're enjoying the luxury of internal dissension." But the spat, if it gets bad enough, can wreck the family.

Spat and chat in the Communist family, too. Russians and Red Chinese call names, express disgust with each other, but Premier Khrushchev drools over the Chinese ambassador. If the spat gets bad enough, goodby Communist family.

Grumbling but not much excitement in Congress when Kennedy sends his record peacetime budget: $98.8 billion. The usual cries: expenses must be cut. Not much fire in the fuss.

Kennedy sends Congress his aid to education program, will soon send one on medical care for the aged. Comparative calm in Congress. Neither program seems to have much chance. No wonder. Kennedy himself was skeptical of their chances before he ever sent them to the Hill.

Kennedy sends Congress his tax-cutting program to enable consumers to buy more and business to invest more. This got the most reaction and much, if not most of it, has been sour.

To help it, Kennedy supporters hit on the feeble idea of trying to add two more members to the conservative Senate Finance Committee to liberalize it. The result: defeat. This is not fighting, this is sparring.

Business chimes in on the opposite side. Ladd Plumley, president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, says the plan favors the consumer too much. Amen, says the National Association of Manufacturers.

The only real heat so far this year comes from the Republican criticism of Kennedy's foreign doings. It's been unceasing. Irritated, Kennedy is having his supporters tell the Republicans to pipe down. They won't. He stays mild.

In short, Kennedy isn't showing any more sign of tough fighting—the kind former President Truman used to enjoy—than he did in 1961 or 1962.

With Canada—because it didn't put American nuclear warheads on American missiles there. With France — because President Charles de Gaulle snubbed the Kennedy offer of missiles on which he'd have to put his own warheads, of which he doesn't have any.

At the same time De Gaulle, whose high-held nose was pointed at the British, too, kept them out of the Common Market. The result: ever since the Allies have been scrambling for a solution which they haven't found.

Kennedy is trying to set up what he calls a multinational nuclear force although no one—and at this moment perhaps not Kennedy himself—seems to know how this would work because American law requires American control of American nuclear weapons no matter where they are.

And, if things weren't boxed and bottled enough, the Americans and Russians are back where they started years ago on banning nuclear tests: in a sparring match.

Shattered Illusions

By Raymond Moley

The point of this piece is not to add to the volume of useless speculation about a Republican presidential candidate in 1964, but to offer some observations on what is sometimes called progress.

Two sorts of progressive changes limit seriously the capacity of aspirants to achieve that coveted nomination. One has to do with changes in the laws which were enacted mostly in what was called the progressive era, half a century ago. The other marks of progress appear in physical means of communication and transportation.

Since the latter have been the product of science and engineering and have been accepted as wonderful by all concerned, we can't do much about them. But so far as the laws are concerned and their effects after 50-odd years of trial, we may be warned that we should, in accepting reforms, let our brains, rather than our emotions, guide us.

Back in the years extending roughly from the election of William H. Taft in 1908 to the sinking of the Lusitania in 1915, when our hearts were young and gay and agriculture supported us rather than vice versa, we decided to do something about our political institutions.

BRILLIANT figures fired our imaginations with denunciations of the "old order" and the need for more "democracy."

Some of them inspired me then and still elicit my admiration, despite what came of their plans. Among those figures might be mentioned Robert M. LaFollette, Charles Evans Hughes, Hiram Johnson and Woodrow Wilson.

The core of their philosophy was that representative government had failed us, that big business was bad, and that political parties were run by evil men.

The remedy, they told us, was to let the people nominate public officials directly and to shackle the political parties so that they would have no further responsibility for our public servants.

There were substantial elements of truth in the indictment. But the remedies proposed failed to take into account the oldest political fact in the world, the mental and moral limitations of pure democracy — limitations which were amply delineated in the writings of philosophers from Aristotle to the authors of The Federalist.

It seems to be the rule now that an aspirant must campaign actively in one or a few. This takes money and energy. An aspirant must also create a popular demand by stumping in many other states, since the party organizations are generally so weakened by "progressive" laws that they are unable to make a considered selection themselves.

VAST PUBLIC relations operations are needed. Also, there are hired pollsters to employ not only in the primaries but in the campaign after the nomination.

When a president is to be a candidate for renomination or, as in Nixon's case, where he occupies a unique position as the president's favorite, such activities are unnecessary. But aspirants in a party out of power have all these necessities to fulfill.

They must have a large personal fortune or have financial sources which will be heavy liabilities after election.

New methods of communication and transportation not only require great sums of money but create demands which can be met only by a man of immense physical and gastronomic capabilities.

So the candidate in 1964, it seems, should be under 55 and should be willing to give his time for a year or more to the task. If he has a public responsibility now, he must neglect it. Also, he must be photogenic on television and a capable actor before crowds.

Amid such requirements, proved intellectual capacities and experience in large affairs are relatively unimportant. People are nominated to be elected, and they must be chosen democratically.

And so the progressive ideal, which was to take money power out of politics, has made money indispensable — much money, lavishly spent.

Women Disillusioned

How Far Does Wife Hike In Normal Day Of Work?

The question was bound to be asked during all this physical fitness business and 50-mile hikes.

"Oh, 15 at least," said Ted Simmons, an Atlanta Constitution reporter. "My wife Pat is an average housewife—well, almost average—and to hear her tell it she does a good six or eight miles before lunch."

Simmons was talked into getting a pedometer or walking meter and finding out how much ground she covered during a normal day in a relatively small apartment occupied by themselves and their three children.

"I could tell she was worried right from the start," he wrote. "By 11 a.m. she had only done two and a half miles, and she insists she usually travels that far just trying to get me out of bed."

"As a matter of fact, she implied that I got up considerably more quickly than usual just to cut down on her mileage. This I denied."

Simmons checked the meter at noon and it registered two and three-quarter miles and Pat explained she'd been having a coffee break. At 2:30 p.m. the reporter left for the office. The meter read just over three miles.

"Anyway, the gist of it is, she fell considerably short of the 50-mile mark," he wrote. "I called about 10 p.m. from work, to check again and she said: 'Six and a half miles, wise guy.'

"Unfortunately I couldn't control the roar of laughter that followed. Unfortunate for me, that is.

"That's about the story. Sorry it didn't turn out as planned. Six and a half miles is pretty good in a small duplex, I guess.

"Anyway, I hope no one mentions physical fitness to me again soon. It's kind of hard to exercise in a doghouse."

GOP

R-Pa. Rockefeller and Goldwater are possible candidates for the 1964 GOP presidential nomination.

In a major defense of President Kennedy's policies, Fulbright assailed Rockefeller for the governor's assertion that the administration is to blame for "the present disarray within the Atlantic alliance."

Fulbright said Rockefeller and Goldwater were "professing sympathy and support for the disruptive policies" of the French government under President Charles de Gaulle.

Fulbright said Scott, a former Republican national chairman, was "even more intemperate" in saying that the administration is "neutral to its enemies, friendly to the neutralists and hostile to its friends."

"Aside from its factual inaccuracy," Fulbright said, "this kind of statement carries the sort of ugly insinuation which did so much to poison our political life a decade ago."

Hickenlooper challenged Fulbright's contention that the Democrats in Congress had helped rescue former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's international policies.

Driver Jailed In City Crash; Boy, 14, Cited

A 50-year-old Maplewood man was jailed on a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol and a district boy, 14, was cited for lack of an operator's permit and for a curfew violation as an aftermath of a two - car crash Saturday at 11:38 p. m. at St. Clair Ave. and Walnut St., police reported.

Patrolman Paul A. Burson Jr. filed the drunken driving charge against Hollis L. Fisher, 301 Carolina Ave., whose 1957 auto allegedly struck the rear of a 1948 model car operated by the Edgemont Pl. boy. Police said it was the second time in 14 months Fisher has been cited on such a charge.

Operating an auto owned by his father, the boy was cited to Juvenile Court as a curfew violator and for lack of an operator's permit, police said.

The crash damaged the rear of the car the boy was driving and the front of the Fisher auto, police said. The boy said he had halted to pick up a passenger when his auto was struck from the rear. Fisher told police the boy "wanted a push and I tried to help him."

Represented by Atty. George Aronson, Fisher entered a not guilty plea today and his Municipal Court hearing was continued until 9 a. m. Feb. 28. His bond of $507.50 posted after his arrest was continued by Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

Two driverless autos were damaged in a Smithfield St. mishap Sunday afternoon at 4:04 which also destroyed a pine tree on the lawn of a home, police reported.

The accident involved a 1959 four-door sedan owned by Mildred Hiscox, 123 Jerome St., Lisbon, and a 1956 two-door sedan owned by Joseph Eisenhuth, 509 Marcus St., officers said.

Patrolman L. E. Richard, who investigated, said neither motorist witnessed the mishap. He said the Eisenhuth auto had been parked, apparently with the emergency brake on, when it slid on ice and snow on the street, crossed the lawn at the home of Paul Jones of Riverview St., and then struck the Hiscox auto in the rear, shoving it forward 15 feet.

The drifting auto snapped off a pine tree on the lawn at the Jones home, he said.

Meanwhile, Charles Williamson of New Cumberland R.D. 2 told police the right rear fender of his 1961 model truck was damaged by an unknown vehicle while parked Saturday afternoon on the lot at the A. & P. Supermarket.

Williamson told police he was away from the truck about 30 minutes, discovering the damage when he returned.

A Pleasant Heights woman was cited by police Friday afternoon about 4:30 as the aftermath of a collision on the Lisbon St. Hill.

Mrs. Powell told police she was trying to avoid ice at the edge of the roadway as she headed uphill. As she rounded a curve, she struck the Galloway car, she said.

Mrs. Powell, who was represented by Atty. Robert Kapp, also pleaded innocent and Judge Chertoff continued the case until Feb. 27 at 9 a. m. She was released on her own recognizance.

$50 Loss Set In Fire

NEW CUMBERLAND — Volunteer firemen extinguished a small fire in the rear of Brant's Pool Room on Chester St. Sunday at 4 a. m. The blaze burned a hole in the floor near the rear door, causing $50 damage. The cause is undetermined, firemen said.

Club

The others were released on $10,000 bonds.

Pecora was identified as acting manager of the club.

At the same time, the FBI arrested Charles F. Teemer, 62, of Hollywood, Fla., reputed to be the manager of the club. Arrested in Florida, he was scheduled for arraignment in Miami.

The club is located upstairs in the Club Paddock on Route 30 just east of Chester. The FBI said 75 patrons were found in the place when the raiding party forced entry about 12:20 a. m. Saturday.

The federal agents seized two slot machines, a roulette wheel, dice table, a blackjack layout and a large amount of cash and pledged jewelry, according to William M. Alexander, special agent in charge of the Pittsburgh bureau, who led the raid.

State Police at Weirton said they followed up six hours after the initial raid and arrested one man at the establishment and confiscated seven more slot machines, two dice tables, a roulette wheel and poker chips and cards.

The West Virginia officers said they arrested Vincent Pecora, 38, of Carolina Ave., Chester in the club later and charged him with violation of state law against keeping and exhibiting gambling equipment. He was identified as a brother of Joseph Pecora.

Vincent Pecora posted $500 bond before Squire Thomas Bellanco of Weirton for a hearing Saturday.

Cpl. C. W. Tighe of Weirton State Police estimated the value of the gambling equipment seized in both raids at $20,000.

The FBI transported one type of each gambling machine confiscated to Wheeling for today's Grand Jury hearings. The equipment seized by State Police was hauled away in a moving van to a warehouse in Weirton.

State Police arrested Vincent Pecora at 7 a. m. Saturday, entering the club with a warrant obtained from Squire Bellanco with information contained in an affidavit presented by FBI agents. The raid culminated months of investigation, the FBI said.

Along with Cpl. Tighe, other State Police officers who returned to the Jockey Club Saturday morning to arrest Vincent Pecora and confiscate additional gambling equipment were Officers W. A. Steffick, J. N. Morrison and C. E. Kyer.

The FBI raid on the swank Jockey Club was the first by authorities, although West Virginia State Police twice raided Club Paddock in the downstairs of the white brick building last year.

Observers said business has been slow in the downstairs part of the club, while operations in the Jockey Club upstairs have been in full swing, particularly on the weekends.

The FBI raiders used axes to break down a door of the Jockey Club to gain entrance. An investigating agent had been placed inside beforehand.

Snake Bites Another Church Cult Member

JOLO, W. Va. (AP) — The congregation at the Church in Jesus, where poisonous snakes play an important part in the worship, suffered another casualty over the weekend.

Robert Elkins, 43, was bitten on the big toe by a copperhead as he trampled on more than a half-dozen snakes. Elkins' foot swelled to about twice normal size, but he said he would not seek medical attention.

Women Disillusioned

How Far Does Wife Hike In Normal Day Of Work?

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—How far does a housewife walk during a normal day's work?

The question was bound to be asked during all this physical fitness business and 50-mile hikes.

"Oh, 15 at least," said Ted Simmons, an Atlanta Constitution reporter. "My wife Pat is an average housewife—well, almost average—and to hear her tell it she does a good six or eight miles before lunch."

Simmons was talked into getting a pedometer or walking meter and finding out how much ground she covered during a normal day in a relatively small apartment occupied by themselves and their three children.

"I could tell she was worried right from the start," he wrote. "By 11 a.m. she had only done two and a half miles, and she insists she usually travels that far just trying to get me out of bed."

"As a matter of fact, she implied that I got up considerably more quickly than usual just to cut down on her mileage. This I denied."

Simmons checked the meter at noon and it registered two and three-quarter miles and Pat explained she'd been having a coffee break. At 2:30 p.m. the reporter left for the office. The meter read just over three miles.

"Anyway, the gist of it is, she fell considerably short of the 50-mile mark," he wrote. "I called about 10 p.m. from work, to check again and she said: 'Six and a half miles, wise guy.'

"Unfortunately I couldn't control the roar of laughter that followed. Unfortunate for me, that is.

"That's about the story. Sorry it didn't turn out as planned. Six and a half miles is pretty good in a small duplex, I guess.

"Anyway, I hope no one mentions physical fitness to me again soon. It's kind of hard to exercise in a doghouse."

GOP

R-Pa. Rockefeller and Goldwater are possible candidates for the 1964 GOP presidential nomination.

In a major defense of President Kennedy's policies, Fulbright assailed Rockefeller for the governor's assertion that the administration is to blame for "the present disarray within the Atlantic alliance."

Fulbright said Rockefeller and Goldwater were "professing sympathy and support for the disruptive policies" of the French government under President Charles de Gaulle.

Fulbright said Scott, a former Republican national chairman, was "even more intemperate" in saying that the administration is "neutral to its enemies, friendly to the neutralists and hostile to its friends."

"Aside from its factual inaccuracy," Fulbright said, "this kind of statement carries the sort of ugly insinuation which did so much to poison our political life a decade ago."

Hickenlooper challenged Fulbright's contention that the Democrats in Congress had helped rescue former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's international policies.

Driver Jailed In City Crash; Boy, 14, Cited

A 50-year-old Maplewood man was jailed on a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol and a district boy, 14, was cited for lack of an operator's permit and for a curfew violation as an aftermath of a two - car crash Saturday at 11:38 p. m. at St. Clair Ave. and Walnut St., police reported.

Patrolman Paul A. Burson Jr. filed the drunken driving charge against Hollis L. Fisher, 301 Carolina Ave., whose 1957 auto allegedly struck the rear of a 1948 model car operated by the Edgemont Pl. boy. Police said it was the second time in 14 months Fisher has been cited on such a charge.

Operating an auto owned by his father, the boy was cited to Juvenile Court as a curfew violator and for lack of an operator's permit, police said.

The crash damaged the rear of the car the boy was driving and the front of the Fisher auto, police said. The boy said he had halted to pick up a passenger when his auto was struck from the rear. Fisher told police the boy "wanted a push and I tried to help him."

Represented by Atty. George Aronson, Fisher entered a not guilty plea today and his Municipal Court hearing was continued until 9 a. m. Feb. 28. His bond of $507.50 posted after his arrest was continued by Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

Two driverless autos were damaged in a Smithfield St. mishap Sunday afternoon at 4:04 which also destroyed a pine tree on the lawn of a home, police reported.

The accident involved a 1959 four-door sedan owned by Mildred Hiscox, 123 Jerome St., Lisbon, and a 1956 two-door sedan owned by Joseph Eisenhuth, 509 Marcus St., officers said.

Patrolman L. E. Richard, who investigated, said neither motorist witnessed the mishap. He said the Eisenhuth auto had been parked, apparently with the emergency brake on, when it slid on ice and snow on the street, crossed the lawn at the home of Paul Jones of Riverview St., and then struck the Hiscox auto in the rear, shoving it forward 15 feet.

The drifting auto snapped off a pine tree on the lawn at the Jones home, he said.

Meanwhile, Charles Williamson of New Cumberland R.D. 2 told police the right rear fender of his 1961 model truck was damaged by an unknown vehicle while parked Saturday afternoon on the lot at the A. & P. Supermarket.

Williamson told police he was away from the truck about 30 minutes, discovering the damage when he returned.

A Pleasant Heights woman was cited by police Friday afternoon about 4:30 as the aftermath of a collision on the Lisbon St. Hill.

Mrs. Powell told police she was trying to avoid ice at the edge of the roadway as she headed uphill. As she rounded a curve, she struck the Galloway car, she said.

Mrs. Powell, who was represented by Atty. Robert Kapp, also pleaded innocent and Judge Chertoff continued the case until Feb. 27 at 9 a. m. She was released on her own recognizance.

$50 Loss Set In Fire

NEW CUMBERLAND — Volunteer firemen extinguished a small fire in the rear of Brant's Pool Room on Chester St. Sunday at 4 a. m. The blaze burned a hole in the floor near the rear door, causing $50 damage. The cause is undetermined, firemen said.

Club

The others were released on $10,000 bonds.

Pecora was identified as acting manager of the club.

At the same time, the FBI arrested Charles F. Teemer, 62, of Hollywood, Fla., reputed to be the manager of the club. Arrested in Florida, he was scheduled for arraignment in Miami.

The club is located upstairs in the Club Paddock on Route 30 just east of Chester. The FBI said 75 patrons were found in the place when the raiding party forced entry about 12:20 a. m. Saturday.

The federal agents seized two slot machines, a roulette wheel, dice table, a blackjack layout and a large amount of cash and pledged jewelry, according to William M. Alexander, special agent in charge of the Pittsburgh bureau, who led the raid.

State Police at Weirton said they followed up six hours after the initial raid and arrested one man at the establishment and confiscated seven more slot machines, two dice tables, a roulette wheel and poker chips and cards.

The West Virginia officers said they arrested Vincent Pecora, 38, of Carolina Ave., Chester in the club later and charged him with violation of state law against keeping and exhibiting gambling equipment. He was identified as a brother of Joseph Pecora.

Vincent Pecora posted $500 bond before Squire Thomas Bellanco of Weirton for a hearing Saturday.

Cpl. C. W. Tighe of Weirton State Police estimated the value of the gambling equipment seized in both raids at $20,000.

The FBI transported one type of each gambling machine confiscated to Wheeling for today's Grand Jury hearings. The equipment seized by State Police was hauled away in a moving van to a warehouse in Weirton.

State Police arrested Vincent Pecora at 7 a. m. Saturday, entering the club with a warrant obtained from Squire Bellanco with information contained in an affidavit presented by FBI agents. The raid culminated months of investigation, the FBI said.

Along with Cpl. Tighe, other State Police officers who returned to the Jockey Club Saturday morning to arrest Vincent Pecora and confiscate additional gambling equipment were Officers W. A. Steffick, J. N. Morrison and C. E. Kyer.

The FBI raid on the swank Jockey Club was the first by authorities, although West Virginia State Police twice raided Club Paddock in the downstairs of the white brick building last year.

Observers said business has been slow in the downstairs part of the club, while operations in the Jockey Club upstairs have been in full swing, particularly on the weekends.

The FBI raiders used axes to break down a door of the Jockey Club to gain entrance. An investigating agent had been placed inside beforehand.

Snake Bites Another Church Cult Member

JOLO, W. Va. (AP) — The congregation at the Church in Jesus, where poisonous snakes play an important part in the worship, suffered another casualty over the weekend.

Robert Elkins, 43, was bitten on the big toe by a copperhead as he trampled on more than a half-dozen snakes. Elkins' foot swelled to about twice normal size, but he said he would not seek medical attention.

Water, Street Jobs Planned At Salineville

SALINEVILLE — A proposed extension of water service to Monroe Heights and resurfacing of Main St. by the State Highway Department were discussed at a meeting of Council Saturday night.

Mayor Stanley Fitch was requested to prepare a resolution for study at the next meeting Feb. 25 requesting the state to resurface Main St., which is a link in Route 39.

Councilmen reported the condition of the street has deteriorated and the surface has not been improved for seven or eight years.

The mayor presented a petition bearing signatures of 17 residents of Monroe Heights asking for extension of water mains from the village, a distance of about a mile.

On a motion by Councilman John Beadnell, it was agreed that the mayor arrange a meeting sometime this week between the Board of Trustees of Public Affairs and a delegation of the residents to study the proposal, its costs and its effects on water pressure in the village.

Complaints about trash in the yard of a Jefferson St. home and an accumulation of junked autos about a service station were referred to the health and safety committee.

Following a report by Councilwoman Kate Weaver concerning high railings at a Main St. bridge which constituted a possible hazard of a fall from the span by anyone slipping on ice, Council instructed Police Chief Roy Lewis and Street Foreman Pete Growall to keep the bridges salted or ashed in cold or snowy weather.

The mayor reported on a meeting with County Sanitarian Harry Stockdale last week at which conditions at the village dump were reviewed. Stockdale advised the mayor a license will have to be obtained for the dump, under new regulations, and new restrictions will be introduced on use of the dump.

Council took no action on a request by Chief Lewis for purchase of a second pistol for the police department. Chief Lewis reported a first aid kit had been donated for use in the police cruiser by an anonymous contributor.

Chief Lewis' suggestion that the village purchase a 1960 cruiser being traded-in by the county sheriff's department was turned down by Council because the vehicle had 81,000 miles of use.

At present the village rents a car for use as a police cruiser. Chief Lewis's report on maintenance of the cruiser by the Hart Motor Co. was discussed and Mayor Fitch will confer with the agency about improved service.

Councilman Gillis Earl suggested blacktop material be obtained for use in repairing streets when the weather improves.

Discussion was held on the recent appointment of Ronald Dunlap of Monroe Heights as maintenance man and meter reader for the water department. Dunlap succeeds Orville Madison, who becomes superintendent with the retirement of George Leishman March 9.

Council gave final approval to three ordinances, one raising the duty pay of firemen from $1.15 an hour to $1.25, another increasing the salary of Harold Merriner, Woodland Cemetery sexton, from $200 a month to $220, and the third fixing specifications for sidewalks.

Sidewalk standards include paving brick of a minimum of three inches thickness and concrete of four-inch thickness, and all are to be at least six feet wide and six feet from the curb line.

Councilman Orval Tolson was absent, as were Clerk S. R. Davis and Treasurer Miss Myrtle Strabley.

NEW CITY FIREMEN. Larry A. Tullis, left, 9 Valley Trailer Court, and James H. Allmon, 322 E. 3rd St., were sworn in Saturday as city firemen to fill two vacancies on the department. They will replace two veteran firefighters, Sheridan G. Pollock and Walter (Dutch) Feustel, who retired. The two new men will work daylight turns with all three crews this week and then be assigned to shifts.

Mrs. Boothman To Mark 99th Birthday Tomorrow

Born during Civil War days, Mrs. Alice Mae Boothman, one of Wellsville's oldest citizens, will observe her 99th birthday anniversary Tuesday at the Riverside Nursing Home, where she resides.

A cake presented by her daughter, Mrs. C. W. (Florence) Arnold, who is spending the winter in Florida, will mark the occasion. It will be shared by the nursing home staff.

Mrs. Boothman, a native of Fulton County, has been a resident of Wellsville since 1923, living with her daughter a part of the time.

When she was born in February, 1864, the War between the States was at its height.

Ulysses S. Grant, soon to be promoted to lieutenant general, was preparing to assault the Confederate positions at Petersburg with the famous "Battle of the Crater."

The battles of The Wilderness and Spotsylvania Court House had not gone into history. Abraham Lincoln had more than a year to live before his life was snuffed out by an assassin's bullet.

Despite her advanced age, she is able to be up and about and keeps up with current topics through the radio and television.

She especially likes baseball and, although her sight is failing, she is able to re-read her favorite Bible passages from chapters printed in extra large lettering which her daughter had bound separately.

Mrs. Boothman is a charter member of the Daughters of the American Revolution and a former member of the Order of Eastern Star.

Leadership

United States it will have to be the president of France or the prime minister of Great Britain, or someone else."

His remark appears to have been more generous than practical. It does not appear to be possible that the total and final control over nuclear forces almost entirely supplied by the United States would be handed over to the chief of a foreign government.

The issue which the President therefore sharply posed is the issue of American leadership. In the present state of international affairs it is essentially the question of whether the Allies now, in changing circumstances, will accept that leadership as a more or less permanent, more or less decisive arrangement.

So long as the United States had a clear monopoly of atomic power it was in a position to make its will felt not only in the military but in other fields of foreign policy.

With the postwar growth of economic prosperity in Western Europe, with the rise of Soviet nuclear weapons capacity, with the development of limited nuclear power in Britain and the less advanced production of such might in France, the forces which once placed the leadership of the United States beyond contest by any of the Allies have given way to an entirely different set of policy influences.

What Kennedy seems to find frustrating and annoying and sometimes frightening is that, underlying the changes in national wellbeing and in the conditions of nuclear power, the stark facts of the power balance which really count are the same.

At this level of international relations there is still only the United States and the Soviet Union, the decisive power to survive or perish still rests in the Kremlin and the White House.

The problem is not so difficult for Soviet Premier Khrushchev because his international relations rest on a system of central control and his allies are satellites or else they break away completely.

For Kennedy the task of exerting leadership and expressing it in permanent organizations among allies is extremely complicated and sometimes very delicate.

Long Siege Of Ice And Snow Cuts City's Cinder Stockpiles

The severe winter weather, which has been blamed for numerous casualties, almost claimed another victim last week — East Liverpool motorists.

The city came within an "ash" of exhausting its cinder pile stored on the River Rd. as street crews tried to cope with snow and ice which have made driving and walking extremely hazardous, Safety-Service Director Robert Owen said.

The city's supply became so low last week that street crews had to break up frozen chunks at the River Rd. stockpile to secure cinders and even dipped into a small reserve supply on the former W. 2nd St. playground, the director said.

The reserve stock is maintained in the event high water cuts off access to the River Rd. cinder supply, he explained.

The city builds up a stockpile during summer months and then depends on replenishing its supply as it is used in the winter.

The bad weather, which has continued virtually without a break for weeks, and the low supply of cinders is one reason the city crews have had to ash streets so sparingly, Owen commented.

"We haven't ashed as heavily as we would have liked and we know we've skipped some level areas, but the stock has been too depleted," the director explained.

Some cinders were spread from pickup trucks Saturday on icy sections while four trucks were being used to replenish the stock from the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. and the regular hopper truck was being overhauled.

The city also trucked in cinders Friday to help rebuild the supply.

The street department was forced to give up its indoor cinder storage area a few weeks ago when a building which the city formerly rented was leased to a Cleveland firm.

Part of the former Valley Motor Transit Co. property on Pennsylvania Ave., the building was rented from Ken Buckley Cartage, Inc. In addition to storage of ashes and salt, it was used to house some equipment.

Mayor Receives Names Of 3 Men From Job Tests

The names of two who passed a police examination and three who passed a firemen's examination have been submitted to Mayor William Daugherty by the Wellsville Civil Service Commission to provide eligibility lists for the two departments.

Passing the police exam were Charles Amato of Chester Ave. and Leonard J. Hephner, 601 Broadway. They finished in that order. Amato has served previously as an extra patrolman. Hephner is the son of Police Chief John Hephner.

Passing the firemen's exam were James D. Elliott, 817 Broadway, David G. Lanam, 209½ 9th St., and Dudley S. Havelock, 519 Commerce St. They also finished in that order.

Three took the patrolmen's tests Wednesday night and four took the firemen's exam Thursday night, according to John H. Grafton, commission clerk.

There are no vacancies in either department. The exams were graded Saturday. The commission includes R. F. Wilk, chairman, E. M. Welch and L. B. Kochert.

Berlin

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's Christian Democratic party is strong in small towns and rural areas.

The Christian Democrats are largely a Roman Catholic party. West Berlin is predominantly Protestant.

The Socialists and Christian Democrats had formed a government coalition to demonstrate the unified opposition of the city's major political groups to the East German Communists encircling West Berlin.

Brandt in his first post-election comment said his party is ready to form a new government on as broad basis as possible. But he told the Christian Democrats and Free Democrats they must adapt themselves to the Socialists' campaign platform if they join his coalition.

This was viewed a broad hint that Brandt will not repeat such concessions to the Christian Democrats as his cancellation of a meeting with Premier Khrushchev during the Soviet leader's visit to East Berlin last January.

12 Students Join Bowling Green's Blister Brigade

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP) — High school and college students joined the 50-mile blister brigade over the weekend.

Some of the high school boys apparently moved faster, but the college men went a greater distance.

Eight of 19 high school youths who set out Saturday are reported to have hiked from Bowling Green to Fostoria and back, about 50 miles, in between 14 hours, 5 minutes, and 16 hours, 35 minutes.

Four Bowling Green State University students tramped to Napoleon and back, about 58 miles, Sunday in 17 hours, 10 minutes.

In Columbus, two former Marines who hiked 50 miles to Delaware and back Sunday in 19 hours had this advice: "Don't try it unless you've trained and know you're in good shape."

U. S. production of paper and paperboard in 1962 climbed to about 37.5 million tons, a 2-million ton increase over 1961. Consumption in the U.S. also increased 2 million tons to 42 million.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: We have three very young children in our home who are learning to feed themselves. Cleaning up the spilt milk and food becomes a chore, especially after a busy day. But, I have found that it helps a lot if I put an old bath towel on their little tables at meal time!

The children seem to love this special "tablecloth". . . . and the toweling blots up the overflow before it reaches their laps, the floor or my tired nervous system!

MOTHER OF THREE.

One could use fingertip towels or old pieces of bath towels which you could cut up yourself. This is a wonderful nerve saver.

HELOISE.

Lucky Accidents

DEAR HELOISE: Many good things happen accidentally! The last time I waxed my furniture, I happened to pick up my husband's old sock from the rag bag.

The idea hit upon me to put the sock on like a glove, and spray my polish on the furniture and polish with my sock-glove. It works! (Hold the toe in the palm of your hand for extra thickness.)

Another bit of luck proved terrific when I was sewing on shank buttons. The only needle I could find had some embroidery thread through it—full strand. It worked beautifully.

A few stitches and it is stronger than ordinary thread. Embroidery threads tends to pull the buttons tighter into the material than single or double strand regular thread usually does. These buttons have never come loose!

Now I am just looking for accidents!

IRENE MORRIS.

DEAR IRENE: Bless you! You're just the sweetest thing we know. That quotation should read, "Accidents and necessity are the mother of invention."

I'm sure you have proved this yourself, at least to me you have.

HELOISE.

Steamless Iron

DEAR HELOISE: I have a steam iron which has stopped steaming. Have you any idea what may have caused it or what I should do?

FRANCES HINTZO.

DEAR FRANCES: There may be something drastically wrong with your iron. Not seeing it, how would I know?

However, most people find that the iron has been stopped up with sediment. The best answer we have found to date for this is:

Empty the water from the steam iron. Fill it with approximately one-fourth cup of pure vinegar—white or yellow makes no difference—and let it steam four minutes.

Turn the iron off and let it get completely cool. Most people like to let the iron sit about three hours. After that, rinse the iron with plain water.

Fill the iron with the amount of water you ordinarily would use and let it come to a steaming point again.

Be sure to run the iron over a piece of wet cloth before ironing your niceties. This will remove any sediment that has come loose and might be caught in the steam holes on the bottom of your iron.

Or you could use commercial steam iron cleaners. There are many brands. And always remember that there could be something wrong with your iron. In that case you would have to see a repair man in this business. Hope you're lucky!

Love,
HELOISE.

Cold Moves Toward East

By The Associated Press

Fairly cold weather prevailed today across northern sections of the Midwest and New England but generally temperatures were at or above seasonal levels in most parts of the nation.

There were many wet spots but no severe storms were reported.

Temperatures in New England and upstate New York moderated after Sunday morning subzero readings, including 21 below in Watertown, N.Y., which reported 58 inches of snow.

A fresh batch of cold air spread into northern parts of North Dakota and Minnesota and the mercury dropped to near zero in some areas. The cold belt was expected to extend into the upper Mississippi Valley and the upper Great Lakes region.

One freezing line extended from northern Maine to southern South Carolina, with some freezing marks also reported in northern Georgia and Tennessee. It also was freezing from the northern Plains and upper Mississippi Valley to the upper Great Lakes region.

Temperatures were mostly in the 20s and 30s in other sections of the country except for the 40s and 50s in the Pacific Coast and the 50s and 60s in extreme Southern areas.

Expert Says Youth Needs New Purpose

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Millions of American children are growing up in frustration, their energies blunted by a society which has nothing for them to do, an educator warned today.

Prof. Willard E. Goslin of Nashville's George Peabody College said: "We are possibly the first people in history with little or no economic use for our children, unless one considers their extensive exploitation in advertising."

Goslin told the American Association of School Administrators: "Our technological advances have rendered them (children) unneeded, if not useless. We have made matters worse by moving to town—nearly 90 per cent of us—where we have automated our kitchens and heating systems and put motors on our lawnmowers."

In his prepared speech, Goslin noted that for 300 years an American youth carried in the wood at age 6, learned to plow at 12, and became a full-fledged farm hand at 16.

"Now, about the only thing we have for him to do is to go to school a few hours a day for about half the days of the year, with time off for football and teachers' meetings," he said.

Goslin called for a nationwide attack on the problem. He suggested:

1. Schools should be opened 12 to 14 hours a day throughout the year with far-reaching adaptations of programs.

2. Parents should try to find work opportunities for their children instead of shielding them from it.

Dairy Group Hits Fat Diet Link To Heart Conditions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Dairy Association says some groups are making a concerted effort to talk Americans into changing their diets by associating heart disease with consumption of animal fats.

In its weekly newsletter, the dairy organization said these efforts are promoting vegetable oils as a substitute for dairy fats, meats and meat products with fats in them.

"The subject continues to get a great deal of space in newspapers and magazines, and the bookstore shelves devoted to dietary information keep getting longer every week," the letter said.

Attacks being made on animal fats were said to be contrary to statements by "major medical and public health groups pointing out that there is no sound evidence to warrant any major changes in the American diet to avoid heart disease."

"Since it is obvious who would stand to gain by such a change (in diet), it is not unreasonable to assume," the dairy group said, "that there is a great deal of effort—some open, some undoubtedly under cover—to keep planting doubts in as many minds as possible," the letter said.

Safety Director Quits

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — John Manton has resigned as Toledo safety director, a post he held since May 1961, and will return to private law practice. Arthur Schuster, head of the city's building inspection department, was appointed interim safety director.

Prices Of Vegetables Decline After Weather-Induced Rise

Prices of some vegetables are drifting back to normal levels from the high points they reached recently because of frost damage in winter growing areas, according to Ed Watkins, market information specialist with the Agriculture Extension Service in Canfield.

The trend to lower prices includes cabbage, green beans, cauliflower, tomatoes and lettuce, Watkins said.

Since there is quite a variation in the quality of head lettuce this week, other types of lettuce on the market may be possible substitutes. Florida shipping points report an increase in Big Boston type. This also is a head lettuce, but the heads are not as large and tend to be a bit more leafy than the "iceberg" type.

Area markets also report very good quality on leaf and Bibb lettuce. Because of modern handling and wrapping methods these two products tend to stay fresher for a longer period of time. Both leaf and Bibb lettuce may be products from northern Ohio greenhouses. Leaf lettuce also is shipped in from the South.

There still is quite a price variation of white potatoes now on the market. For instance, market checks show that California long whites are about 10 cents per pound. Idaho Bakers about eight cents, Wisconsins about six cents, round reds from Minnesota about five cents and potatoes from Ohio, Michigan, and Pennsylvania about four cents per pound. Potatoes from Maine are priced between four and five cents per pound. These price comparisons are for U.S. No. 1s and in five-or 10-pound bags.

Other economical vegetable choices this week are divided between fresh, canned and frozen forms. Radishes are almost at mid-summer price levels, onions too, in larger sizes are quite plentiful. Carrots remain a rather economical choice. Canned tomato products, especially catsup and sauce remain as one of the items in abundant supply. Canned corn and peas also are priced at or below last year's level.

For fresh fruits the situation is largely unchanged. Apples, by and large, are the economical choice, with a wide variety of kinds, grades and sizes still available. Grapes are beginning to go up in price after staying at rather low levels most of the winter. Banana prices are returned to a mid-winter normal of 15 to 17 cents per pound. Limited quantities of pears, pineapples, plums, and nectarines are available. Orange and grapefruit prices are largely unchanged.

Beef and pork prices are mostly unchanged and both in fairly abundant supply. Pork prices have reached a low point for the winter season thus far. Economy choices in pork shoulder roasts, spare ribs, picnics and rib end roasts. Chuck roasts and ribsteaks are popular beef features.

The best grades of beef remain quite steady in price with medium grades of U.S. Good and U.S. Commercial showing the most tendency toward lower prices.

Chamber Dinner Will Attract 150 To Country Club

An estimated 150 will attend the annual membership dinner of the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday night at the Country Club to hear an address by William C. Craig, chairman of the Department of Speech at the College of Wooster.

Craig's talk will follow a 6:30 buffet dinner.

Alvin T. Babb, the Chamber's retiring president, will preside as the meeting opens, later turning over the gavel to William D. Ogilvie, his successor. Babb, who served two terms, is scheduled to speak briefly. Ogilvie also will present brief remarks.

Ogilvie will introduce the speaker, widely known as an educator, author and lecturer. Craig has headed the college department since 1946.

The invocation will be given by the Rev. D. Ross Salisbury Jr., rector of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church.

Youngstown Man Gets Injunction On Games

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court allowed a temporary injunction today in the appeal of Walter Dragelevich from seizure of his coin-operated bowling game machines by the city of Youngstown.

Lower courts in Mahoning County refused to declare invalid city ordinance 14.10, under which police Chief William Golden ordered all such machines seized after last Jan. 20.

The bowling machines, called "Shuffle-Alleys," were placed in a number of Youngstown establishments. Dragelevich and others testified that they provide no free games and are not gambling devices.

Rig Damaged Slightly In Bid To Thaw Cargo

An attempt to thaw out a load of limestone with a gasoline fire resulted in slight damage to a truck of the Erskine Trucking Co. of Cleveland Saturday afternoon at an East End depot.

Firemen said a load of limestone had frozen in the bed of the truck and a special pan with gasoline was rigged under the bed to thaw out the limestone.

However, the pan fell from hangers used to hold it near the bed and spilled gasoline on the tires and rear of the truck. Firemen were notified at 1:47 p. m. by police.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: One of the most useful aspects of your column is that all of us recognize ourselves in a letter—sooner or later.

I'm writing to you now in the hope that some of my friends will see themselves in THIS letter and do something about it.

People are becoming more diet conscious these days — and this is good. But why in heaven's name do they assume that everyone they chance to meet is interested in THEIR battle of the calories?

The only subject more boring than what a guy ate for breakfast is a recital of the "cute" things his children said. I've decided that the next person who stops me with, "Do you know what I ate today?" — is going to get this reply: "No, and I couldn't care less, so please don't tell me."

Thanks for letting me get this off my chest. I feel better already.—FED UP WITH THE UNDERFED.

Dear Fed: I've been hoping someone would write to complain about this current affliction. Your letter is a candid and refreshing expression of what a great many people feel —including me.

Fond Of In-Laws

Dear Ann: I was the youngest of 10 children. When I married, my folks kicked me out of the house. I rarely see them and have no desire to.

My husband's parents are young and full of fun. They both have a terrific sense of humor and we love to go places with them and their friends. My mother-in - law keeps telling me we should socialize with people our own age but we prefer their company to anyone else's.

Yesterday I phoned my mother-in-law and asked her to go shopping with me. She refused, saying she had a shopping date with Mrs. X. I know Mrs. X, and was hurt that my mother-in-law didn't ask me to go along.

Dear Can't: Your husband's parents may seem like contemporaries to you but you don't seem so to them — for two reasons. First, a generation separates you, and second, your husband is their son.

It may be tempting for a young couple to hang around with their parents, but it's far healthier for them to cultivate friends their own age. Take your mother-in-law's advice and don't impose on her good nature by trying to attach yourself to her and her acquaintances.

Dislikes Moochers

Daer Ann: I'm a boy in the ninth grade. A certain blowhard in our room is very bright. But he's a goof off and a homework moocher. He also has a gift of gab that fools the teachers into believing he knows everything because he speaks with authority after picking people's brains.

This kid told me yesterday (in a bragging way) that his mother is preparing his entry for the science fair. She's a smart woman and will do a great job. I want to compete in the fair but I wouldn't have a chance against this kid's mother.

Should I go to the science teacher and tell her what I know? My parents said if I wrote to you, you'd have the right answer. What is it:—LOVER OF TRUTH.

Dear Lover: Don't be an informer. The best way to deal with cheaters is to go about your own business and let them trap themselves — as inevitably they must.

Don't waste your time or energy bum - rapping the phonies. Time and events eventually will do them in.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Life Begins At 50 For Eleanor Powell

about life's beginning at 40. Well, Eleanor Powell has added another 10 years to it and can't go anywhere today without being surrounded by a bevy of envious gals screaming in chorus, "Honey, tell us how you do it!"

Hal Humphrey

These screams got even louder after she limbered up for her famous tap shoes on Perry Como's TV show a few weeks ago. It was the famous dancer's first so-called "live" appearance on the home screens since making her big comeback.

"THAT CAN'T be the same Eleanor Powell I see in those old MGM musicals, can it?" wrote one viewer afterward. In fact, so much interest was stirred up that Como is having Eleanor back for another whirl Wednesday at 9 p.m.

Not only is it the same Eleanor Powell who danced on everything from grand pianos to battleships in movies during the '30s and '40s, but she brags about being 50 years old. She also looks as alluring in a skin-tight leotard today as she did then.

"I must tell you about those leotards," says Eleanor. "Remember, it had been 14 years since I danced professionally, so when I was ready to open at the Sahara in Las Vegas two years ago, I had to buy a whole new wardrobe.

"EVERYBODY said the French cut leotards were being worn by all dancers, so that's what I bought, but do you know after the first week there were lots of letters — mostly from men — which said, 'Please, you don't have to wear those scanty costumes.'

"The women took another view. They'd come backstage and say, 'Honey, I'd give a million dollars if I could wear something like that, and what's the secret?'

"Anyway, I threw out the French leotards and went back to the same kind I used to wear in my pictures. And you know what? I was flattered by the respect those men had for me," she adds.

A French - cut leotard, by the way, is cut around the hips in a high arc which misses a gal's lower rib only by about an eighth of an inch.

"THOSE WOMEN who were raving about my figure didn't know I weighed 160 pounds and was walking around in a size 16 dress just a year before," Eleanor recalls with a sigh.

This was 1959, when her 16-year marriage to Glenn Ford ended. She says the strain and stress of the coming bustup had turned her into a compulsive eater.

A trip to Las Vegas after the divorce, and some sweet talk from singer Pearl Bailey and Eleanor's son, Peter, persuaded her to try for the comeback.

It took nine months of rigid training and six to eight hours a day of rehearsal to put her back into a size 10 dress at 122 pounds. It took a lot more for her to regain the confidence necessary to dance publicly.

"DON'T FORGET, I was at the top of my profession when I retired," she says.

"I'll bet you've forgotten I won five Emmy awards for my local Sunday school series, 'Faith of Our Children,' haven't you?"

She was teaching Sunday school at Beverly Hills Presbyterian Church, and a committee of ministers asked her to produce and present a class on TV. She did it for three years beginning in 1954, and as she says won five TV Academy Emmys during that period.

WHEN NOT in Las Vegas or Houston's Cork Club or New York's Latin Quarter, she still teaches a class of 32 children every Sunday, and loves it.

"I guess now you can call me the Dancing Preacher," says Eleanor Powell, who plans to go on doing both for a long, long time.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Gifted Child Shouldn't Be Exploited

In this column I often emphasize the importance of identifying the gifted pupil early and thus providing him with opportunities for developing his superior native abilities. Most of these gifted children revealed signs of precocity long before they entered school. Sometimes they are correctly identified as gifted in these early years through the use of intelligence tests. This identification may guide the parent to stimulate the child's interest early, especially through his hearing stories read and through creative fun, and also to plan ahead for his good education after entering school.

BUT MANY parents, feeling sure their preschool child is precocious, want him tested by a psychologist with the hope of being able to brag to their friends about his high IQ, consequently doing this child much harm.

If you suppose your child two to five is precocious and have your supposition confirmed by an intelligence test, you have reason to feel humble and loaded with heavy responsibility for his upbringing.

On the evidence of his giftedness you will try harder to keep him sufficiently humble so he won't become a prig and to give him ample play with other children of his age. Duly discipline him in respect for the rights of others and regard for constituted authority and especially in self-reliance and responsibility in the family.

Instead of encouraging your friends to exploit this child, you will try to do the opposite. It's during the preschool years when the precocious child can grow most conceited and least acceptable to other children.

But as a rule, any formal skills or knowledge make it harder for this child to be accepted by average children of his age at the very time when such acceptance is so desirable.

Of course ever so many average young children are believed by their doting parents and grandparents to be precocious and are trained like seals to do all sorts of mental and verbal stunts to satisfy their parents' vanity.

A good way to develop any young child you suppose or know to be precocious is to read to him a great deal from fanciful and factual materials and stimulate his inventive and creative urges while alone and with other children.

Wool Growers Told Of Program Deadline

Wool growers were reminded today that the 1962 program payments, to be made this summer, will be made on wool and unshorn lambs which are marketed before March 31, 1963. That is the closing date for the 1962 program.

Mark Hilliker, chairman of the Beaver County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, also pointed out that applications for such payments under the 1962 wool program are to be filed before the end of April.

He emphasized that the information on payment applications is to be supported by adequate records on the sales.

Ohio Doctor Says Pacific Outbreak Of Polio Checked

HONOLULU (AP)—A Navy doctor from Ohio who led a team of physicians into the Marshall Islands to battle a polio epidemic Jan. 15 says the epidemic has been checked with the vaccination of some 20,000 island residents.

Capt. William F. Lyons, Coshocton, Ohio, reported Sunday that no new cases had been reported in the past five days in the islands 2,000 miles southwest of Hawaii. He said 40,000 more injections of Type I polio vaccine will be flown to the islands Tuesday.

Some 120 children between the ages of 8 months and 7 years were hit by the outbreak at its start on the tiny island of Ebeye, near Kwajalein. Three native children died.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Life Begins At 50 For Eleanor Powell

about life's beginning at 40. Well, Eleanor Powell has added another 10 years to it and can't go anywhere today without being surrounded by a bevy of envious gals screaming in chorus, "Honey, tell us how you do it!"

Hal Humphrey

These screams got even louder after she limbered up for her famous tap shoes on Perry Como's TV show a few weeks ago. It was the famous dancer's first so-called "live" appearance on the home screens since making her big comeback.

"THAT CAN'T be the same Eleanor Powell I see in those old MGM musicals, can it?" wrote one viewer afterward. In fact, so much interest was stirred up that Como is having Eleanor back for another whirl Wednesday at 9 p.m.

Not only is it the same Eleanor Powell who danced on everything from grand pianos to battleships in movies during the '30s and '40s, but she brags about being 50 years old. She also looks as alluring in a skin-tight leotard today as she did then.

"I must tell you about those leotards," says Eleanor. "Remember, it had been 14 years since I danced professionally, so when I was ready to open at the Sahara in Las Vegas two years ago, I had to buy a whole new wardrobe.

"EVERYBODY said the French cut leotards were being worn by all dancers, so that's what I bought, but do you know after the first week there were lots of letters — mostly from men — which said, 'Please, you don't have to wear those scanty costumes.'

"The women took another view. They'd come backstage and say, 'Honey, I'd give a million dollars if I could wear something like that, and what's the secret?'

"Anyway, I threw out the French leotards and went back to the same kind I used to wear in my pictures. And you know what? I was flattered by the respect those men had for me," she adds.

A French - cut leotard, by the way, is cut around the hips in a high arc which misses a gal's lower rib only by about an eighth of an inch.

"THOSE WOMEN who were raving about my figure didn't know I weighed 160 pounds and was walking around in a size 16 dress just a year before," Eleanor recalls with a sigh.

This was 1959, when her 16-year marriage to Glenn Ford ended. She says the strain and stress of the coming bustup had turned her into a compulsive eater.

A trip to Las Vegas after the divorce, and some sweet talk from singer Pearl Bailey and Eleanor's son, Peter, persuaded her to try for the comeback.

It took nine months of rigid training and six to eight hours a day of rehearsal to put her back into a size 10 dress at 122 pounds. It took a lot more for her to regain the confidence necessary to dance publicly.

"DON'T FORGET, I was at the top of my profession when I retired," she says.

"I'll bet you've forgotten I won five Emmy awards for my local Sunday school series, 'Faith of Our Children,' haven't you?"

She was teaching Sunday school at Beverly Hills Presbyterian Church, and a committee of ministers asked her to produce and present a class on TV. She did it for three years beginning in 1954, and as she says won five TV Academy Emmys during that period.

WHEN NOT in Las Vegas or Houston's Cork Club or New York's Latin Quarter, she still teaches a class of 32 children every Sunday, and loves it.

"I guess now you can call me the Dancing Preacher," says Eleanor Powell, who plans to go on doing both for a long, long time.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Gifted Child Shouldn't Be Exploited

In this column I often emphasize the importance of identifying the gifted pupil early and thus providing him with opportunities for developing his superior native abilities. Most of these gifted children revealed signs of precocity long before they entered school. Sometimes they are correctly identified as gifted in these early years through the use of intelligence tests. This identification may guide the parent to stimulate the child's interest early, especially through his hearing stories read and through creative fun, and also to plan ahead for his good education after entering school.

BUT MANY parents, feeling sure their preschool child is precocious, want him tested by a psychologist with the hope of being able to brag to their friends about his high IQ, consequently doing this child much harm.

If you suppose your child two to five is precocious and have your supposition confirmed by an intelligence test, you have reason to feel humble and loaded with heavy responsibility for his upbringing.

On the evidence of his giftedness you will try harder to keep him sufficiently humble so he won't become a prig and to give him ample play with other children of his age. Duly discipline him in respect for the rights of others and regard for constituted authority and especially in self-reliance and responsibility in the family.

Instead of encouraging your friends to exploit this child, you will try to do the opposite. It's during the preschool years when the precocious child can grow most conceited and least acceptable to other children.

But as a rule, any formal skills or knowledge make it harder for this child to be accepted by average children of his age at the very time when such acceptance is so desirable.

Of course ever so many average young children are believed by their doting parents and grandparents to be precocious and are trained like seals to do all sorts of mental and verbal stunts to satisfy their parents' vanity.

A good way to develop any young child you suppose or know to be precocious is to read to him a great deal from fanciful and factual materials and stimulate his inventive and creative urges while alone and with other children.

My bulletins, "Letting Little Children Learn" and "Teaching Tot To Be Socialbe", may be had by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Wool Growers Told Of Program Deadline

Wool growers were reminded today that the 1962 program payments, to be made this summer, will be made on wool and unshorn lambs which are marketed before March 31, 1963. That is the closing date for the 1962 program.

Mark Hilliker, chairman of the Beaver County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, also pointed out that applications for such payments under the 1962 wool program are to be filed before the end of April.

He emphasized that the information on payment applications is to be supported by adequate records on the sales.

Ohio Doctor Says Pacific Outbreak Of Polio Checked

HONOLULU (AP)—A Navy doctor from Ohio who led a team of physicians into the Marshall Islands to battle a polio epidemic Jan. 15 says the epidemic has been checked with the vaccination of some 20,000 island residents.

Some 120 children between the ages of 8 months and 7 years were hit by the outbreak at its start on the tiny island of Ebeye, near Kwajalein. Three native children died.

Ohio Hearing Tuesday Night

Fight Due Over 'Red' School Bill

By WILLIAM S. VANCE
Review Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio — A star-spangled protest against a bill to erase the "Spirit of '76" law from Ohio's education statutes is expected Tuesday night in what may be the liveliest committee hearing of this legislative session.

The bill, which most observers believe is destined for sudden death, would permit public school instruction about communism and socialism in conjunction with geography, history and government study.

It seeks to amend the law enacted in 1955 which says students must be schooled in a number of U.S. history, geography and government courses before communism and socialism can enter the picture.

Many on Warpath

But their convictions are no stronger than those of a multitude of patriotic and civic organizations which crushed Ocasek's amendment efforts two years ago.

The same groups reportedly are lined up against this bill and are speech making before the Senate Education Committee Tuesday night.

According to Ocasek, the opposition is led by Fred J. Milligan, counsel for the Committee for Ohio Schools. Ocasek says more than 20 organizations are out to derail the bill. To name a few:

The American Legion, American Veterans of World War II, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Disabled American Veterans, Daughters of the American Revolution, Sons of the American Revolution, Ohio Historical Society, Ohio Bar Association, Ohio Association of Township Trustees and Clerks, Ohio Association of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

Question Is When

The basic quarrel isn't so much whether communism should be explained in the classroom as when it should be explained.

Opponents of the bill don't want children exposed to information about communism until they've had a solid foundation in the American system. Proponents want teachers to have the freedom to bring up the subject any time it fits into the discussion or any time they feel their students are ready.

But optimism among the proponents is as scarce as laughter at a funeral. Even Ocasek is prepared to see his bill buried.

"Last time we didn't even get a hearing," he says. "This time it will get two hearings and that will be it. It's a real hot potato."

Teachers Disagree

Educators themselves disagree over the bill.

Thomas G. O'Keefe, executive secretary of the Ohio Education Association, says open discussion of communism is demanded today.

"We can't stick our heads in the sand," he said.

Vance Bell of the Avon Lake Public Schools, who headed an Ohio School Boards Association study of the "Spirit of '76" law, says:

"It's better to learn about it (communism) in the schoolroom than outside from someone purveying an insidious ideology. The subject should be taught in the same way a child is taught not to touch a hot stove."

Robert Poulter, an Akron elementary school teacher, says he is breaking the law almost every day in his classroom and it upsets him. He says his pupils will be in the armed forces someday and "I only hope when they're protecting us they know what they're protecting us for."

Reaction Differs

Rep. Kenneth B. Creasy, R-Delaware, a speech and government teacher: "I feel there is absolutely no problem. I can't see anything wrong with the law." Creasy says he contrasts democratic vs. communistic societies regularly and doesn't feel he's violating the law.

Rep. Robert H. Longsworth, R-Carroll, head of the House Education Committee and superintendent of Carroll County schools: "The present law does not say a teacher shall not mention communism .. it simply requires that certain courses be taught first. I think very few teachers of history or social studies are competent to present a very thorough description of the various ideologies."

Collins Opposes

Sen. Oakley C. Collins, R-Ironton, a Senate Education Committee member who taught history and social studies in Lawrence County for 18 years: "A very small percentage of teachers are qualified to talk about communism. I'm against this bill 100 per cent and I'll fight it all the way."

Collins believes the furor is without sound basis because the law does not prevent instruction about communism and it carries no penalty provision.

"The only way to stop the teaching of communism is to go to the courts for an injunction," says Collins. "And you tell me, who's going to do that?"

Gem-Wise
Jewelry fashions, facts, fictions

J. A. LOCKE, JR.

Probably one of our most romantic jewels (after the diamond, of course, is the beautiful, translucent violet-purple amethyst. In many ways, it is unfortunate that increased sources of supply have lessened the value of this gem, which formerly was considered suitable for Crown Jewels. Catherine the Great of Russia was noted for her fine amethyst collection, and Empress Charlotte, the wife of Maximilian, owned an amethyst necklace once valued at $10,000. Today, a similar piece would cost less than $1,000.

In ancient times, the amethyst became popular for use in ecclesiastical rings since it was said to typify celestial fire and zeal. A charming Grecian story concerning the origin of the amethyst led to its use as a talisman against intoxication. Legend tells us that the amethyst was the gem set in the wedding ring of Joseph and Mary. This gem is also the proper birthstone for those born in February.

In color, amethyst is found in shades of light violet to a deep red purple. When well polished and faceted, amethyst is exceedingly brilliant and makes a lovely foil for many costume shades. Both diamonds and pearls complement it well, and it's equally effective set in either white or yellow metals.

As a Valentine's day gift, amethyst is singularly appropriate, since this was the jewel worn in a ring by St. Valentine. His gem was carved with an image of Cupid, and while we can't duplicate this, we do have some lovely amethysts that will effectively carry your own romantic message. Stop in soon and see them, won't you?

Ohio Hearing Tuesday Night

Fight Due Over 'Red' School Bill

By WILLIAM S. VANCE
Review Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio — A star-spangled protest against a bill to erase the "Spirit of '76" law from Ohio's education statutes is expected Tuesday night in what may be the liveliest committee hearing of this legislative session.

The bill, which most observers believe is destined for sudden death, would permit public school instruction about communism and socialism in conjunction with geography, history and government study.

It seeks to amend the law enacted in 1955 which says students must be schooled in a number of U.S. history, geography and government courses before communism and socialism can enter the picture.

Many on Warpath

But their convictions are no stronger than those of a multitude of patriotic and civic organizations which crushed Ocasek's amendment efforts two years ago.

The same groups reportedly are lined up against this bill and are speech making before the Senate Education Committee Tuesday night.

According to Ocasek, the opposition is led by Fred J. Milligan, counsel for the Committee for Ohio Schools. Ocasek says more than 20 organizations are out to derail the bill. To name a few:

The American Legion, American Veterans of World War II, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Disabled American Veterans, Daughters of the American Revolution, Sons of the American Revolution, Ohio Historical Society, Ohio Bar Association, Ohio Association of Township Trustees and Clerks, Ohio Association of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

Question Is When

The basic quarrel isn't so much whether communism should be explained in the classroom as when it should be explained.

Opponents of the bill don't want children exposed to information about communism until they've had a solid foundation in the American system. Proponents want teachers to have the freedom to bring up the subject any time it fits into the discussion or any time they feel their students are ready.

But optimism among the proponents is as scarce as laughter at a funeral. Even Ocasek is prepared to see his bill buried.

"Last time we didn't even get a hearing," he says. "This time it will get two hearings and that will be it. It's a real hot potato."

Teachers Disagree

Educators themselves disagree over the bill.

Thomas G. O'Keefe, executive secretary of the Ohio Education Association, says open discussion of communism is demanded today.

"We can't stick our heads in the sand," he said.

Vance Bell of the Avon Lake Public Schools, who headed an Ohio School Boards Association study of the "Spirit of '76" law, says:

"It's better to learn about it (communism) in the schoolroom than outside from someone purveying an insidious ideology. The subject should be taught in the same way a child is taught not to touch a hot stove."

Robert Poulter, an Akron elementary school teacher, says he is breaking the law almost every day in his classroom and it upsets him. He says his pupils will be in the armed forces someday and "I only hope when they're protecting us they know what they're protecting us for."

Reaction Differs

Rep. Kenneth B. Creasy, R-Delaware, a speech and government teacher: "I feel there is absolutely no problem. I can't see anything wrong with the law." Creasy says he contrasts democratic vs. communistic societies regularly and doesn't feel he's violating the law.

Rep. Robert H. Longsworth, R-Carroll, head of the House Education Committee and superintendent of Carroll County schools: "The present law does not say a teacher shall not mention communism . . it simply requires that certain courses be taught first. I think very few teachers of history or social studies are competent to present a very thorough description of the various ideologies."

Collins Opposes

Sen. Oakley C. Collins, R-Ironton, a Senate Education Committee member who taught history and social studies in Lawrence County for 18 years: "A very small percentage of teachers are qualified to talk about communism. I'm against this bill 100 per cent and I'll fight it all the way."

Collins believes the furor is without sound basis because the law does not prevent instruction about communism and it carries no penalty provision.

"The only way to stop the teaching of communism is to go to the courts for an injunction," says Collins. "And you tell me, who's going to do that?"

They Aren't Doing It Themselves

Home Buyers Snub 'Shell' Game

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Are do - it - yourselfers getting lazy? Or are they so well-heeled that they can't take those king-size blisters?

Whatever the reason, fewer home handymen in a certain suburban do-it-yourself area are building their own homes or even refinishing house shells.

"In 1955 we built twice as many house shells or partially completed homes as finished homes," explains Gerard B. Eagen, vice president of New England Homes, a home - brokerage organization. "But in 1962 we built 90 per cent more completed houses than shells."

The shell home includes plumbing, heating and electrical wiring installed, the most difficult phases of home building. It costs one-third of a finished home.

A partially - finished home includes in addition, a full cellar, cesspool and connection, hot water heater, chimney and footing, exterior decorating, sheetrock, electrical wiring, interior doors and connection to water supply — an 85 per cent completed home.

"PEOPLE have more money to spend on homes, lenders are more liberal with mortgage money than before, and a more superior-finished home is available for the money, through product development and new production methods, so perhaps they are content to have someone else build for them," Eagen points out.

Broker - builders like his organization reduce costs in many ways. They subcontract work to plumbers, heaters, wiring experts and flooring specialists who lay, sand and seal floors. It often doesn't pay for the do-it-your-selfer to be his own home builder.

"Labor costs are reduced as there are no Jack-of-all-trades involved, and the house looks professional. Costs are cut in other ways too. Insulation may be bought in carload lots, trucked to jobs and installed cheaper than the price a do-it-yourselfer is likely to pay over the counter for the insulation alone," Eagen says.

Left to his own devices, the average man wouldn't tackle building a house, Eagen continues. He lacks confidence. "It's the woman who wants to buy the shell home, and encourages her husband to finish it. But after the first house many husbands have had it. The next one is on the builder."

ONE LARGE hurdle the do-it-yourselfer encounters is plastering or applying sheet rock to walls. He chooses sheet rock because it seems easier to apply, but is stymied when he tries to join seams.

The trick is a professional one, says Eagen, simple as using a putty knife six to eight inches wide, instead of one that is two to three inches in width that do-it-yourselfers latch on to.

The larger knife permits feathering the filler into the seam gradually, whereas the amateur tries to fill in the seam at one clip with the smaller knife.

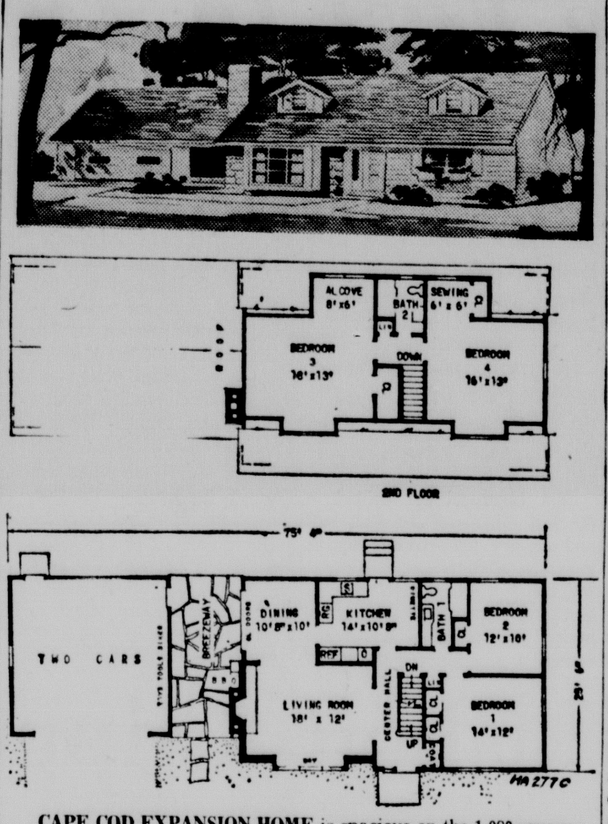
In Fairfield County, Conn., where many New York City commuters live, the two-story Garrison Colonial is replacing the ranch house in popularity, Eagen says.

"One can get more for one's money because there is a common foundation and common roof," he points out, "and this helps reduce costs."

But generally speaking, he says, the size of the house has doubled, even when a ranch house is chosen.

The most important features in a house for women haven't changed in many decades. They still want modern kitchens, bathrooms and lots of closets, and more than 50 per cent of houses now have dishwashers.

"But women are realistic. They don't want modern features that aren't practical. We are putting old-fashioned - style ranges back in the kitchen. Most women have found that wall ovens take up too much space."



CAPE COD EXPANSION HOME is spacious on the 1,080-square-foot lower floor. And its available living space is increased by the 727-square-foot attic floor that adds two bedrooms and a second bath. Sliding glass doors of the dining room open out to a covered breezeway with its barbeque fireplace, fine for summertime outdoor meals. Steel Retains Output Levels put is expected to top two million ingot tons this week for the second straight week, Steel Magaine said today.

The metalworking weekly said production should exceed last week's estimated 2,015,000 tons, which was the largest tonnage since the week ended April 21, 1962. The industry operated at 65.5 per cent of estimated capacity last week, Steel said.

March steel production won't match the 10.6 million ingot tons of last March, Steel said, but the magazine predicted the month's output probably will top nine million tons for the first time since last April.

Steel's reasons for the prediction: "Seasonal factors and some inventory building are being added to a market that's riding an uptrend."

"There won't be a boom to rival last year's," the publication declared, "because buyers have learned that they don't have to do all their stockpiling in the first quarter. They feel the odds are against a strike, so they'll gamble on building their inventories gradually.

"Result: Steelmakers may be spared last year's boom-and-bust cycle. Barring a quick settlement of the labor question, production will continue rising through the second quarter."

Despite the rise in steel output, the magazine said, steel's price composite on No. 1 heavy melting grade scrap held at $28.33 a gross ton.

"Consumers are showing more interest in flat rolled products, and indications are that March deliveries will be up substantially," the trade journal observed.

Steel said structural fabricators report some increased activity. Moderate buying of hot rolled merchant bars continues, but little gain is noted in demand for wire products.

A 10 year plan of economic development undertaken by the government of Chile calls for an expansion of 55 per cent in the production of food crops and 69 per cent in livestock by 1970.

Resurfacing Of Floor Generally Takes Time

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

If the existing finish on a wooden floor is in poor condition, only a complete resurfacing job can prepare it for a new finish.

It's the kind of home project you can undertake yourself. But don't expect it to be one of those fast, get-rid-of-it tasks you can accomplish in a couple of hours. It's going to take, at the very least, two days — and more often than not, several days, especially if one of the slower drying finishes is used.

You'll need two sanding machines. The large, drum - type sander will handle the bulk of the floor.

A small edger will handle areas next to the walls where the larger sander will not reach. These can be rented by the day. There's no use renting them and then letting them remain idle a day or two while you complete the necessary preparations.

Make arrangements ahead of time for the renting, but specify that you do not want the machines until such-and-such a time.

The preparations start with the moving of as much furniture out of a room as possible; preferably all of it. After that comes a close inspection of the floor for defects. Especially look for protruding nail heads.

Drive these below the surface with a hammer and punch and fill the holes with wood putty or plastic wood. Be sure to put enough putty into the holes so that a tiny bit of it is higher than the surrounding surface. The putty often shrinks while drying and, besides, the sanding machine will smooth down the excess.

Where there is any squeaking or buckling, drive in two - inch finishing nails, about an inch and a half apart and slanted toward each other at the tips. Threaded nails have extra holding power.

In using the machine, start with a coarse sandpaper, then a medium and then a fine.

Always be sure the machine is in motion before the drum is lowered to the floor. And always raise the drum before stopping the machine. The sander should never be kept in one spot while the motor is on.

The edger will sand most areas which the large machine can not reach, but sometimes even the edger will not get properly into corners.

In that case, it will be necessary to take off the old finish in corners with a varnish remover and a putty knife. Follow directions on how long to allow the remover to stand before scraping.

You can use any one of many floor finishes, depending on what kind of appearance is sought. If you like a gloss, the choice usually is between varnish and shellac.

A low-sheen finish that has become fairly popular in recent years is penetrating sealer. Instead of leaving a hard, glossy finish, the penetrating type, as the name implies, sinks into the wood.

It can be applied with a brush, mop or cloth and must be wiped off in about 15 minutes to prevent stickiness. But here again, closely follow the instructions that come with the particular brand of penetrating finish you select.

Carpenter Given 'Allergy' Pension

BIRMINGHAM, England (AP)—Carpenter Leslie Cox has been pensioned off at 32 because he's allergic to wood.

For 14 years Cox worked for the city parks department. Then he started developing a skin rash whenever he handled certain kinds of wood. The parks department had no other job for him. He was pensioned off.

That means he will draw 3 pounds—$8.40—a week for the next 33 years. Then, at 65, his pension will drop to 2 pounds 11 shillings and 1 penny—slightly over $7. He'll get that for the rest of his life.

Cox says he's going to look for another job—where he doesn't handle wood.

Jury May Deliberate Sheriff's Trial Today

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Jurors hearing the bribery trial of Belmont County Sheriff George E. Neff may begin deliberating today.

Final arguments were to be presented by Prosecutor William H. Irwin and defense attorney Hugo Alexander. Common Pleas Court Judge Delbert E. Teadrick of Guernsey County, sitting by assignment, was to instruct the jurors.

Neff is charged in four counts of an indictment with attempting to solicit money for overlooking beer sales in the dry community of Barnesville.

He also is under indictment on an embezzlement charge.

Tips Are Offered For Painting Of Asbestos Shingle

Question: I have a house covered with asbestos shingles and would like to repaint them.

I notice that some houses with repainted asbestos shingles are beginning to peel and I would like to avoid this. Can you tell me which paint is best for this type of paint job?

Answer: The peeling of the paint on asbestos shingles could have been due to a number of reasons, among them using the wrong type paint and failing to remove surface powder from the shingles.

You will get good results on asbestos shingles with either a solvent - thinned resin paint of the type generally used on swimming pools or an exterior latex paint. An oil or alkyd paint can be used if a coat of solvent - thinned resin primer is applied first.

The swimming pool paint has good hiding power, is water resistant and helps to resist corrosion of any metal to which it is applied. The exterior latex is easy to put on, does not require a completely dry surface and dries rapidly.

But no matter what kind of paint you use, it is vital that the powder which sometimes forms on old asbestos shingles be removed thoroughly. This can be done with a vigorous brushing, followed by a wash with clear water. Sovent should be used to take off any oil or grease spots.

Texan Trots 50 Miles For 5½-Hour Record

HOUSTON (AP) — A slender, former University of Houston distance runner has hoofed the 50 miles from Galveston to Houston in a time that would have made Teddy Roosevelt proud.

John Macy ran the distance in 5 hours and 29 minutes Sunday and National Track and Field Federation officials immediately claimed a world record. There is no listed world record for the distance but in 1883 P. Golden of New York was timed at 7:29.47.

Ohio Judge, 48, Hurt In Carolina Collision

CONCORD, N.C. (AP)—Mount Vernon, Ohio, Municipal Court Judge Evan Perfect Ford remained in very serious condition today at Cabarrus Memorial Hospital. He is suffering from injuries received Saturday in a truck-car crash on U.S. 610 near here.

Attendants said Judge Ford, 48, suffered a skull fracture when his car slammed into the truck and then into a ditch. He was alone at the time of the accident.

Cement Treatment Advised In Crawl-Space Dampness

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

Many of the complaints about excessive dampness and humidity in a house can be traced to the crawl-space, usually when it has not been cemented over as it should be. Roofs, flashings, windows and walls frequently are blamed for a condition which has its origin under the house and nowhere else.

A method often recommended by uninformed persons for correcting a damp condition is that tar paper or other covering be spread over the open ground.

This is not a barrier to dampness, even though the joins are sealed in some manner. The only solid way to seal dampness out of a crawl-space is to cover the ground with a few inches of cement. The use of tar or building paper, even of plastic sheets, is not a solid way of overcoming the condition. And, in our opinion, it not only fails to do the trick but encourages waterbugs and other vermin to thrive under the sheets and promotes a damp odor which soon penetrates throughout the house.

Spreading a cement cover over the ground is not difficult. The area should be raked smooth and tamped down as hard as possible. A mix of one part cement to five of sand is good enough. This is spread and troweled more or less smooth.

When it sets, you have a dampness barrier far superior to anything else. And even though actual water may enter the space, it will evaporate rapidly and no odor will come from the area.

Dog Wins Gun Fight, Shoots Animal Agent

HEXHAM, England (AP)—George Lamb, an inspector of the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, was ordered by police to destroy a troublesome terrier.

As Lamb levelled his gun the terrier leaped. Lamb leaped back, the gun went off and a bullet went into his leg. The dog scampered away.

Expenditure OK'd

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Trustees have okayed expenditure of $797,200 for construction and equiping facilities in Ohio State University's research program. The program earned $1.2 million the past two months, officials said.

The most important features in a house for women haven't changed in many decades. They still want modern kitchens, bathrooms and lots of closets, and more than 50 per cent of houses now have dishwashers.

"But women are realistic. They don't want modern features that aren't practical. We are putting old-fashioned - style ranges back in the kitchen. Most women have found that wall ovens take up too much space."

Steel Retains Output Levels

put is expected to top two million ingot tons this week for the second straight week, Steel Magaine said today.

The metalworking weekly said production should exceed last week's estimated 2,015,000 tons, which was the largest tonnage since the week ended April 21, 1962. The industry operated at 65.5 per cent of estimated capacity last week, Steel said.

March steel production won't match the 10.6 million ingot tons of last March, Steel said, but the magazine predicted the month's output probably will top nine million tons for the first time since last April.

Steel's reasons for the prediction: "Seasonal factors and some inventory building are being added to a market that's riding an uptrend."

"There won't be a boom to rival last year's," the publication declared, "because buyers have learned that they don't have to do all their stockpiling in the first quarter. They feel the odds are against a strike, so they'll gamble on building their inventories gradually.

"Result: Steelmakers may be spared last year's boom-and-bust cycle. Barring a quick settlement of the labor question, production will continue rising through the second quarter."

Despite the rise in steel output, the magazine said, steel's price composite on No. 1 heavy melting grade scrap held at $28.33 a gross ton.

"Consumers are showing more interest in flat rolled products, and indications are that March deliveries will be up substantially," the trade journal observed.

Steel said structural fabricators report some increased activity. Moderate buying of hot rolled merchant bars continues, but little gain is noted in demand for wire products.

Resurfacing Of Floor Generally Takes Time

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

If the existing finish on a wooden floor is in poor condition, only a complete resurfacing job can prepare it for a new finish.

It's the kind of home project you can undertake yourself. But don't expect it to be one of those fast, get-rid-of-it tasks you can accomplish in a couple of hours. It's going to take, at the very least, two days — and more often than not, several days, especially if one of the slower drying finishes is used.

You'll need two sanding machines. The large, drum - type sander will handle the bulk of the floor.

A small edger will handle areas next to the walls where the larger sander will not reach. These can be rented by the day. There's no use renting them and then letting them remain idle a day or two while you complete the necessary preparations.

Make arrangements ahead of time for the renting, but specify that you do not want the machines until such-and-such a time.

The preparations start with the moving of as much furniture out of a room as possible; preferably all of it. After that comes a close inspection of the floor for defects. Especially look for protruding nail heads.

Drive these below the surface with a hammer and punch and fill the holes with wood putty or plastic wood. Be sure to put enough putty into the holes so that a tiny bit of it is higher than the surrounding surface. The putty often shrinks while drying and, besides, the sanding machine will smooth down the excess.

Where there is any squeaking or buckling, drive in two - inch finishing nails, about an inch and a half apart and slanted toward each other at the tips. Threaded nails have extra holding power.

In using the machine, start with a coarse sandpaper, then a medium and then a fine.

Always be sure the machine is in motion before the drum is lowered to the floor. And always raise the drum before stopping the machine. The sander should never be kept in one spot while the motor is on.

The edger will sand most areas which the large machine can not reach, but sometimes even the edger will not get properly into corners.

In that case, it will be necessary to take off the old finish in corners with a varnish remover and a putty knife. Follow directions on how long to allow the remover to stand before scraping.

You can use any one of many floor finishes, depending on what kind of appearance is sought. If you like a gloss, the choice usually is between varnish and shellac.

A low-sheen finish that has become fairly popular in recent years is penetrating sealer. Instead of leaving a hard, glossy finish, the penetrating type, as the name implies, sinks into the wood.

It can be applied with a brush, mop or cloth and must be wiped off in about 15 minutes to prevent stickiness. But here again, closely follow the instructions that come with the particular brand of penetrating finish you select.

Tips Are Offered For Painting Of Asbestos Shingle

Question: I have a house covered with asbestos shingles and would like to repaint them.

I notice that some houses with repainted asbestos shingles are beginning to peel and I would like to avoid this. Can you tell me which paint is best for this type of paint job?

Answer: The peeling of the paint on asbestos shingles could have been due to a number of reasons, among them using the wrong type paint and failing to remove surface powder from the shingles.

You will get good results on asbestos shingles with either a solvent - thinned resin paint of the type generally used on swimming pools or an exterior latex paint. An oil or alkyd paint can be used if a coat of solvent - thinned resin primer is applied first.

The swimming pool paint has good hiding power, is water resistant and helps to resist corrosion of any metal to which it is applied. The exterior latex is easy to put on, does not require a completely dry surface and dries rapidly.

But no matter what kind of paint you use, it is vital that the powder which sometimes forms on old asbestos shingles be removed thoroughly. This can be done with a vigorous brushing, followed by a wash with clear water. Sovent should be used to take off any oil or grease spots.

Carpenter Given 'Allergy' Pension

For 14 years Cox worked for the city parks department. Then he started developing a skin rash whenever he handled certain kinds of wood. The parks department had no other job for him. He was pensioned off.

That means he will draw 3 pounds—$8.40—a week for the next 33 years. Then, at 65, his pension will drop to 2 pounds 11 shillings and 1 penny—slightly over $7. He'll get that for the rest of his life.

Cox says he's going to look for another job—where he doesn't handle wood.

Jury May Deliberate Sheriff's Trial Today

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Jurors hearing the bribery trial of Belmont County Sheriff George E. Neff may begin deliberating today.

Final arguments were to be presented by Prosecutor William H. Irwin and defense attorney Hugo Alexander. Common Pleas Court Judge Delbert E. Teadrick of Guernsey County, sitting by assignment, was to instruct the jurors.

Texan Trots 50 Miles For 5½-Hour Record

HOUSTON (AP) — A slender, former University of Houston distance runner has hoofed the 50 miles from Galveston to Houston in a time that would have made Teddy Roosevelt proud.

John Macy ran the distance in 5 hours and 29 minutes Sunday and National Track and Field Federation officials immediately claimed a world record. There is no listed world record for the distance but in 1883 P. Golden of New York was timed at 7:29.47.

Ohio Judge, 48, Hurt In Carolina Collision

CONCORD, N.C. (AP)—Mount Vernon, Ohio, Municipal Court Judge Evan Perfect Ford remained in very serious condition today at Cabarrus Memorial Hospital. He is suffering from injuries received Saturday in a truck-car crash on U.S. 610 near here.

Attendants said Judge Ford, 48, suffered a skull fracture when his car slammed into the truck and then into a ditch. He was alone at the time of the accident.

Cement Treatment Advised In Crawl-Space Dampness

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

Many of the complaints about excessive dampness and humidity in a house can be traced to the crawl-space, usually when it has not been cemented over as it should be. Roofs, flashings, windows and walls frequently are blamed for a condition which has its origin under the house and nowhere else.

A method often recommended by uninformed persons for correcting a damp condition is that tar paper or other covering be spread over the open ground.

This is not a barrier to dampness, even though the joins are sealed in some manner. The only solid way to seal dampness out of a crawl-space is to cover the ground with a few inches of cement. The use of tar or building paper, even of plastic sheets, is not a solid way of overcoming the condition. And, in our opinion, it not only fails to do the trick but encourages waterbugs and other vermin to thrive under the sheets and promotes a damp odor which soon penetrates throughout the house.

Spreading a cement cover over the ground is not difficult. The area should be raked smooth and tamped down as hard as possible. A mix of one part cement to five of sand is good enough. This is spread and troweled more or less smooth.

When it sets, you have a dampness barrier far superior to anything else. And even though actual water may enter the space, it will evaporate rapidly and no odor will come from the area.

Dog Wins Gun Fight, Shoots Animal Agent

HEXHAM, England (AP)—George Lamb, an inspector of the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, was ordered by police to destroy a troublesome terrier.

Expenditure OK'd

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Trustees have okayed expenditure of $797,200 for construction and equiping facilities in Ohio State University's research program. The program earned $1.2 million the past two months, officials said.

Potters Shave East In Two Overtimes, 64-59

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

The latest was a double overtime victory which saw the Potters take complete control in the second extra period to shave Youngstown East, 64-59, Saturday night at Memorial Auditorium before some 800 excited customers.

THE VICTORY put East Liverpool's record at 6-11 for the season, with one game remaining Friday night at Weirton. Youngstown finished its season batting .500 with a 9-9 mark.

Saturday's game marked the first overtime victory for the Potters in three games. ELHS had lost single overtime period contests to Midland and Warren.

East Liverpool and Youngstown put in 32 minutes on the hardwood Saturday night, but little basketball was played. Most of the action came in the closing minutes as the Potters put on one of their patented rallies and in the two overtime periods.

DEAN CLINE, the Potters' offensive punch, returned to his old form Saturday night after being held to only two points at Martins Ferry the night before.

In the 38-minute game Saturday, the 6-foot-1 senior fired in 28 points with 17 coming in the first half. Cline took 25 shots and hit on nine. He also connected on 10 of 12 free throws.

While Cline kept the Potters in the game during the first half and led a fourth-quarter rally, Dave Bowersock has to come in for a share of the glory along with Bob Mercer.

★ ★ ★ Cline Hits 28 In 6th Win ★ ★ ★

IT WAS the floor play of this pair, who entered the game in the closing minutes, that meant the difference between victory and defeat.

East Liverpool fell behind in the last minute of the first half and at one time trailed by as much as eight points.

EAST'S Canacci missed two fouls with 34 seconds remaining in the game and the Potters grabbed possession. Cline took the last shot in regulation time with about four seconds left, but missed from the corner.

In the first overtime period, East got the jump on the Potters when Ray Mason put the visitors in front, 55-53. Mercer tied the count when he stole the ball at mid-court with the help of Bowersock and the score stood 55-55 with 1:40 to go.

The same pair teamed up again and this time Bowersock scored to put the Potters in the lead, 57-55, with 1:26 remaining on the clock.

MASON hit again with 1:15 left in the extra session and tied the score at 57-57.

Harris ordered the Potters to go for the last shot again and Cline took a similar shot from the corner with three seconds to go, but missed again.

The Potters went on to score seven straight points in the second overtime period, however. With 2:32 on the clock, Cline opened with a bucket which sent his total to 28. McComas followed with another at 2:06, Dave Oliver added a foul as 36 seconds showed on the clock and with only 12 seconds to go Bowersock added two fouls.

East was hurt badly when its 6-foot-5 pivot star Ted Lolakis fouled out with 7:33 still remaining in the fourth quarter. Up to that time, Lolakis had made it tough on the Potters with his superior height. He finished the game with 19 points. Mason was high for East with 20 while Boggs added 15.

A brief scuffle broke out with 3:51 remaining in the third quarter over a scramble for a jump ball, with officials calling a technical foul on East.

East Liverpool fired 35 per cent on 23 of 64, while East showed 20 for 63 and 31 per cent.

Behind Cline in the Potter scoring was McComas with 12 points. He hit on five of 12 shots.

Lisbon, Clippers Share Loop Title

Both Show 11-3 League Records

The wild Tri-County League basketball race is over and it ended in a two-way deadlock between Columbiana and Lisbon, who will share the 1963 crown.

Both county schools finished with identical 11-3 records in posting their final league victories Saturday night.

Columbiana had a struggle on its hands before whipping Leetonia, 70-56, at Columbiana and Lisbon didn't have much trouble on its own court in trouncing Sebring, 68-32.

Columbiana only showed a 30-26 lead at halftime over the game Leetonia five but stretched the margin to 47-37 at the end of the third frame.

Fred Gosney fired in 20 points and Jim Ward had 17 for the Clippers. George Zepernick of Leetonia took all scoring honors with 20.

Lisbon didn't get started until the second half against Sebring. Coach Gary Pike's team took an 11-10 first period edge and led 25-14 at intermission. A 22-point third quarter pushed Lisbon far in front 47-26 as the period closed.

Craig Pannier tossed in 16 points and was one of four Lisbon starters in the double figures. Burns and Schneider scored nine each for Sebring which ended its season with a 1-17 record.

Ax Falls In Same Hour On 2 Top Unbeaten Clubs

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

In one of the biggest upset splurges in college basketball history, the name of Dave Stallworth will be written in the biggest letters.

Stallworth fired Wichita to the surprise of surprises Saturday night—a 65-64 conquest of nationally top-ranked Cincinnati. The 6-foot-7 junior poured in an amazing 46 points, including the last seven of the game at Wichita as the Wheatshockers ended the two-time national champions' victory string at 37.

Wichita's triumph was tops in a long list of stunners. Second-ranked Loyola of Chicago got knocked off at Bowling Green, 92-75, fourth-ranked Illinois was outscored at Indiana 103-100, sixth ranked Mississippi State was upended at Florida 73-52, seventh-ranked Colorado lost at Iowa State 73-60 and 10th-ranked Georgia Tech was ambushed at home by Louisville 78-73.

Eighth-ranked Stanford won at California 68-58 but jumped the gun on the upset spree by being nipped by the Bears on its own floor Friday night 61-60.

Arizona State broke its tie with Brigham Young for the Western Athletic Conference lead, romping at BYU Saturday night 104-87 as Joe Caldwell scored 32 points and Art Becker added 27.

Ohio State, gunning for its fourth straight Big Ten title, tied Illinois for first by posting a 75-68 decision at Michigan. Gary Bradds paced the Buckeyes with 34 points.

Despite the loss to Wichita, Cincinnati nailed down at least a tie for the Missouri Valley title as St. Louis fell at Tulsa, 66-65.

West Branch Cager Sets Record As Beavers Fall

Ray Oesch set a new school record when he poured in 43 points in leading West Branch to a one sided 92-46 victory over Beaver Local Saturday night at Williamsport.

Oesch, a junior, who is playing his last season because he will be over age next year, pitched in 17 baskets and nine fouls for his total. The 43 markers broke an old record of 38 which was set when the school was Goshen Union. Thirty-two points had been the previous record since the school consolidated three years ago as West Branch.

January Hot In February, Wins Tucson

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Don January was so far out in front it must have been lonesome. But for $1,450 he can stand the lack of company.

The slim, 33-year-old pro from West Covina, Calif. put together a blistering 22-under-par 266 for the 72 holes of the $25,000 Tucson Open Golf Tourney and breezed in to an 11-stroke victory Sunday.

He described his game as "just tee up and hit it, and when you find it, hit it again." But a careful look at his score card shows his game isn't quite that haphazard. For example, he had only two bogies for the four-day tourney.

January, who led all the way, picked up $3,500 for his first victory of the year, $1,450 more than the winnings of defending champion Phil Rodgers and Gene Littler who tied for second.

Bookie Received Basketball Bets Totaling $11,000

According to police, Ronald G. Southall — only an independent operator, he says—admitted taking $11,000 in basketball wagers the past Friday and Saturday alone.

Southall has been booked himself, on a charge of promoting a scheme of chance. And he and an associate, Alfred R. DiPietro, 28, of Columbus, are cited for possessing betting slips.

Officers used a policewoman as a decoy to get into Southall's Linden home Saturday. They say they found wagering slips in abundance inside. Police also say they were in the North Side Pizza shop where DiPietro works long enough to discover he got more telephone calls to place bets than to order pizza.

Both Southall and DiPietro posted bond for Municipal Court appearance.

Hearn Wins Golf Tourney

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Former Giant pitcher Jim Hearn coasted to his second championship in the Baseball Player's Golf Tournament with a 72-hole total of 301, 21 strokes over par.

Playing the final two rounds on a soggy course in a steady drizzle, the 6-foot-3, 220-pound Hearn built up a four-stroke lead and managed to protect it, despite a final round of 78, 8-over-par.

"I came here believing I could win," said Hearn, now a salesman who lives in Wyckoff, N.J. "That's the same score I had in 1960 when I beat Alvin Dark. I was hoping to finish under 300, but I played too cautiously."

Despite bogeys on the final three holes, Hearn nosed out Billy Herman, Boston Red Sox coach who carded a 75 for a 302 total. Dark, manager of the San Francisco Giants who has won the tournament four times, fired a 76 for 303 and third place.

Potters Shave East In Two Overtimes, 64-59

Cline Hits 28 In 6th Win

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

They're not going to finish with a winning record, but the 1962-63 Potters have furnished a little of everything for their followers this season.

The latest was a double overtime victory which saw the Potters take complete control in the second extra period to shave Youngstown East, 64-59, Saturday night at Memorial Auditorium before some 800 excited customers.

THE VICTORY put East Liverpool's record at 6-11 for the season, with one game remaining Friday night at Weirton. Youngstown finished its season batting .500 with a 9-9 mark.

Saturday's game marked the first overtime victory for the Potters in three games. ELHS had lost single overtime period contests to Midland and Warren.

East Liverpool and Youngstown put in 32 minutes on the hardwood Saturday night, but little basketball was played. Most of the action came in the closing minutes as the Potters put on one of their patented rallies and in the two overtime periods.

DEAN CLINE, the Potters' offensive punch, returned to his old form Saturday night after being held to only two points at Martins Ferry the night before.

In the 38-minute game Saturday, the 6-foot-1 senior fired in 28 points with 17 coming in the first half. Cline took 25 shots and hit on nine. He also connected on 10 of 12 free throws.

While Cline kept the Potters in the game during the first half and led a fourth-quarter rally, Dave Bowersock has to come in for a share of the glory along with Bob Mercer.

IT WAS the floor play of this pair, who entered the game in the closing minutes, that meant the difference between victory and defeat.

East Liverpool fell behind in the last minute of the first half and at one time trailed by as much as eight points.

Coach Jim Harris didn't see his team catch up until 51 seconds remained in the game. Bowersock canned a jump shot that knotted the count at 53-53 and that's the way the regulation game ended.

EAST'S Canacci missed two fouls with 34 seconds remaining in the game and the Potters grabbed possession. Cline took the last shot in regulation time with about four seconds left, but missed from the corner.

In the first overtime period, East got the jump on the Potters when Ray Mason put the visitors in front, 55-53. Mercer tied the count when he stole the ball at mid-court with the help of Bowersock and the score stood 55-55 with 1:40 to go.

The same pair teamed up again and this time Bowersock scored to put the Potters in the lead, 57-55, with 1:26 remaining on the clock.

MASON hit again with 1:15 left in the extra session and tied the score at 57-57.

Harris ordered the Potters to go for the last shot again and Cline took a similar shot from the corner with three seconds to go, but missed again.

With 2:32 on the clock, Cline opened with a bucket which sent his total to 28. McComas followed with another at 2:06, Dave Oliver added a foul as 36 seconds showed on the clock and with only 12 seconds to go Bowersock added two fouls.

East was hurt badly when its 6-foot-5 pivot star Ted Lolakis fouled out with 7:33 still remaining in the fourth quarter. Up to that time, Lolakis had made it tough on the Potters with his superior height. He finished the game with 19 points. Mason was high for East with 20 while Boggs added 15.

A brief scuffle broke out with 3:51 remaining in the third quarter over a scramble for a jump ball, with officials calling a technical foul on East.

East Liverpool fired 35 per cent on 23 of 64, while East showed 20 for 63 and 31 per cent.

Behind Cline in the Potter scoring was McComas with 12 points. He hit on five of 12 shots.

Lisbon, Clippers Share Loop Title

Both Show 11-3 League Records

The wild Tri-County League basketball race is over and it ended in a two-way deadlock between Columbiana and Lisbon, who will share the 1963 crown.

Both county schools finished with identical 11-3 records in posting their final league victories Saturday night.

Columbiana had a struggle on its hands before whipping Leetonia, 70-56, at Columbiana and Lisbon didn't have much trouble on its own court in trouncing Sebring, 68-32.

Columbiana only showed a 30-26 lead at halftime over the game Leetonia five but stretched the margin to 47-37 at the end of the third frame.

Fred Gosney fired in 20 points and Jim Ward had 17 for the Clippers. George Zepernick of Leetonia took all scoring honors with 20.

Lisbon didn't get started until the second half against Sebring. Coach Gary Pike's team took an 11-10 first period edge and led 25-14 at intermission. A 22-point third quarter pushed Lisbon far in front 47-26 as the period closed.

Craig Pannier tossed in 16 points and was one of four Lisbon starters in the double figures. Burns and Schneider scored nine each for Sebring which ended its season with a 1-17 record.

Overall both Columbiana and Lisbon posted outstanding 14-4 marks.

Ax Falls In Same Hour On 2 Top Unbeaten Clubs

In one of the biggest upset splurges in college basketball history, the name of Dave Stallworth will be written in the biggest letters.

Stallworth fired Wichita to the surprise of surprises Saturday night—a 65-64 conquest of nationally top-ranked Cincinnati. The 6-foot-7 junior poured in an amazing 46 points, including the last seven of the game at Wichita as the Wheatshockers ended the two-time national champions' victory string at 37.

Wichita's triumph was tops in a long list of stunners. Second-ranked Loyola of Chicago got knocked off at Bowling Green, 92-75, fourth-ranked Illinois was outscored at Indiana 103-100, sixth ranked Mississippi State was upended at Florida 73-52, seventh-ranked Colorado lost at Iowa State 73-60 and 10th-ranked Georgia Tech was ambushed at home by Louisville 78-73.

Eighth-ranked Stanford won at California 68-58 but jumped the gun on the upset spree by being nipped by the Bears on its own floor Friday night 61-60.

That left only three members of the nation's top ten who got through the harrowing weekend unscathed, third-ranked Duke, fifth-ranked Arizona State and ninth-ranked Ohio State.

Arizona State broke its tie with Brigham Young for the Western Athletic Conference lead, romping at BYU Saturday night 104-87 as Joe Caldwell scored 32 points and Art Becker added 27.

Ohio State, gunning for its fourth straight Big Ten title, tied Illinois for first by posting a 75-68 decision at Michigan. Gary Bradds paced the Buckeyes with 34 points.

Despite the loss to Wichita, Cincinnati nailed down at least a tie for the Missouri Valley title as St. Louis fell at Tulsa, 66-65.

Bowling Green had Loyola all the way in dealing the Ramblers their first setback in 22 starts this season. With both Cincinnati and Loyola tripped, there are no major unbeatens left.

West Branch Cager Sets Record As Beavers Fall

Ray Oesch set a new school record when he poured in 43 points in leading West Branch to a one sided 92-46 victory over Beaver Local Saturday night at Williamsport.

Oesch, a junior, who is playing his last season because he will be over age next year, pitched in 17 baskets and nine fouls for his total. The 43 markers broke an old record of 38 which was set when the school was Goshen Union. Thirty-two points had been the previous record since the school consolidated three years ago as West Branch.

Beaver Local completed its season Saturday and showed 17 defeats against one victory.

January Hot In February, Wins Tucson

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Don January was so far out in front it must have been lonesome. But for $1,450 he can stand the lack of company.

The slim, 33-year-old pro from West Covina, Calif. put together a blistering 22-under-par 266 for the 72 holes of the $25,000 Tucson Open Golf Tourney and breezed in to an 11-stroke victory Sunday.

He described his game as "just tee up and hit it, and when you find it, hit it again." But a careful look at his score card shows his game isn't quite that haphazard. For example, he had only two bogies for the four-day tourney.

January, who led all the way, picked up $3,500 for his first victory of the year, $1,450 more than the winnings of defending champion Phil Rodgers and Gene Littler who tied for second.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Former Giant pitcher Jim Hearn coasted to his second championship in the Baseball Player's Golf Tournament with a 72-hole total of 301, 21 strokes over par.

Playing the final two rounds on a soggy course in a steady drizzle, the 6-foot-3, 220-pound Hearn built up a four-stroke lead and managed to protect it, despite a final round of 78, 8-over-par.

Despite bogeys on the final three holes, Hearn nosed out Billy Herman, Boston Red Sox coach who carded a 75 for a 302 total. Dark, manager of the San Francisco Giants who has won the tournament four times, fired a 76 for 303 and third place.

Westgate Gains Jr. High Crown

Winters Nets 20; Clippers Beaten, 50-30

A high-scoring Westgate outfit walked off with the championship in the East Liverpool Junior High cage tournament with a convincing 50-30 victory over Columbiana Saturday afternoon at Memorial Auditorium.

Chuck Winters keyed the Westgate attack with a 20-point performance, which included five field goals and 10 of 12 free throws. He tallied seven points in the first half and 13 in the second half.

Big Mike Silliman also broke into the double figures with 10 markers, while Jerry Vaughn added eight, Mike McFarland six and the other starter, Len Walker, four.

Westgate took a 10-4 lead at the end of the first period, then held Columbiana to just one basket in the second quarter for a 20-6 halftime advantage.

Westgate, which hit 50 points Saturday, had scored 49 markers in a semi-final victory over Wellsville on Thursday.

All five of Westgate's starting lineup were named to a 10-man All-Tourney team picked by tournament officials and coaches. The team included Winters, McFarland, Silliman, Walker and Vaughn of Westgate, Mike Goodballet and Dan Roach of East Junior, Jack Hawkins and Jim Ferrall of Columbiana and Mick Comparetta of Wellsville.

The foul shooting trophy was won by Ferrall of Columbiana, who made eight of 10 attempts. Winters was runnerup in the foul shooting department with 15 of 20.

Wellsville led at halftime, 12-11, but the third quarter ended in a 16-16 tie.

Following the tournament trophies were presented to the winning team, runnerup and consolation winner by Carl Pelini, Westgate principal, and Clarence Means, principal of East Junior High, who served as tournament directors.

Unseeded Net Star Claims Indoor Title

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Dennis (The Menace) Ralston is perhaps the flashiest tennis player to streak across American courts since Jack Kramer, but his success in winning back the Davis Cup depends on a sensitive trigger temper.

"This boy could be the greatest," said Gardnar Mulloy after Ralston had whipped Mike Sangster of Britain 7-5, 4-6, 6-3, 10-8 for the National Indoor Championship Sunday, "but he must be handled properly.

"The people who run the game almost cut his heart out when they suspended him a couple of years ago. He is an artist—very moody and temperamental—but if he can be made to believe in himself, there's no limit to where he can go."

Unseeded, he swept through a star-spangled field that included such world-ranking stars as Roy Emerson of Australia, Manuel Santana of Spain and Chuck McKinley of San Antonio, Tex. He beat McKinley, the United States' No. 1 ranked player, in the semifinals.

People Can't Resist Writing In Little Box

"You would be surprised at the number of people who can't resist writing in that box," an Internal Revenue Service spokesman told Shelby's Junior Chamber of Commerce. "And their words generally go like this, 'I'll write any darn place I please'."

3 Items Left For Decision In NBA Race

By The Associated Press

With the end of the regular season in sight, there appear only three things left to be decided in the National Basketball Association, other than individual records.

They are:

1. The race between Boston and Los Angeles, the divisional leaders, for the extra $2,000 that goes to the team with the highest percentage. Los Angeles leads .750 to .712.

2. The race between Syracuse and Cincinnati for second place in the Eastern Division and the extra $3,000 that goes to the team finishing runner-up. Syracuse leads Cincinnati by two games. Each have 16 games left to play.

3. The race between Detroit and San Francisco for the third and last playoff spot in the Western Division. Detroit leads by half a game. Detroit has 16 games to play, San Francisco 17. No extra money is given for the finishing third, but the team that does gets $6,000 for making the divisional semifinal playoffs.

Both Syracuse and Cincinnati won Sunday as did Boston. Syracuse whipped Detroit 143-124, Cincinnati defeated New York 609-98 and Boston nipped Chicago 110-99, Boston took St. Louis 114-94 and San Francisco went two overtimes to defeat Los Angeles 122-118.

People In News

By The Associated Press

Queen Elizabeth II and the Duke of Edinburgh—still plagued by bad weather—arrived in Canberra, Australia, from New Zealand, which they toured for 13 days.

Drizzle fell as a jet airliner carrying the couple landed.

The prince, 28, was stricken with stomach flu last Wednesday while visiting Ottawa and was kept in bed for two days.

While Marzano was riding his motorcycle on the highway near Casarano, his rear tire blew out. He flew onto the hood of an oncoming car driven by Cassella and slid up against the windshield. The motorcycle landed on top of the car, smashing a jagged hole through the roof. Marzano suffered several broken ribs. Cassella was uninjured.

Items At Museum Are Downright Rare

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — The Historical Society Museum has a new exhibit that, in this automobile age, would be a collector's item anywhere but in Florida, is downright rare.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Simpson of St. Petersburg recently presented the museum with a set of four snowshoes for horses. The snowshoes are made of wood, a foot long and 9 inches wide, with a gadget mounted on top into which Old Dobbin placed his hoof.

Rule Change Should Help Yankees' Newest Pitcher

By The Associated Press

The major rule change for baseball this year should help the New York Yankees' major acquisition of the winter, Stan Williams.

The pitcher's target has been enlarged some 10 inches, from the top of the batter's shoulders down to his knees. It's that upward enlargement that should benefit the big right-hander who was dealt to the American League champions by the Los Angeles Dodgers during the off-season for first baseman Bill Skowron.

"Williams' best pitch is a rising fast ball and he'll get strikes this year which he didn't last season," manager Ralph Houk said today. "I don't think the new rule will help anyone but the big fastballers."

Johnny Sain, the Yankee pitching coach now working with Williams at the Yankee training camp in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., agrees the change will prove a definite advantage for Stan, and the pitcher agrees with his manager and his coach—with a reservation.

"When I'm wild, I'm wild high, so it should help me there," he said. "I'll get some strikes that were called balls last year. But when I have my stuff, I like to keep the ball low."

The Yankees signed ace southpaw Whitey Ford over the weekend for an estimated $47,000 — about $2,000 more than the accomplished left-hander got last season, when he was 17-8. Ford has the highest winning percentage of any active major league pitcher—175-71 for .711.

The Boston Red Sox signed their leading pitcher, Bill Monbouquette. The right-hander, who has been the top man of Boston's staff the past three seasons, hit a personal high last year with 15 victories—one a no-hitter against the Chicago White Sox, Monbo lost 13.

Slugger Lee Thomas jumped the gun and reported to the Los Angeles Angeles' camp at Palm Springs, Calif., Saturday — three days ahead of schedule — and worked out with the pitchers and catchers.

Westgate Gains Jr. High Crown

Winters Nets 20; Clippers Beaten, 50-30

A high-scoring Westgate outfit walked off with the championship in the East Liverpool Junior High cage tournament with a convincing 50-30 victory over Columbiana Saturday afternoon at Memorial Auditorium.

Columbiana was the defending champion, but after the first period Saturday proved no match for the red-hot Wildcats.

Chuck Winters keyed the Westgate attack with a 20-point performance, which included five field goals and 10 of 12 free throws. He tallied seven points in the first half and 13 in the second half.

Big Mike Silliman also broke into the double figures with 10 markers, while Jerry Vaughn added eight, Mike McFarland six and the other starter, Len Walker, four.

Westgate took a 10-4 lead at the end of the first period, then held Columbiana to just one basket in the second quarter for a 20-6 halftime advantage.

A 16-point third quarter by Coach Dan Fisher's club pretty well put the game on ice as Westgate entered the fourth period with a 36-20 margin.

Murphy scored six points to pace Columbiana, while Hawkins and Istnick had five each.

Westgate, which hit 50 points Saturday, had scored 49 markers in a semi-final victory over Wellsville on Thursday.

All five of Westgate's starting lineup were named to a 10-man All-Tourney team picked by tournament officials and coaches. The team included Winters, McFarland, Silliman, Walker and Vaughn of Westgate, Mike Goodballet and Dan Roach of East Junior, Jack Hawkins and Jim Ferrall of Columbiana and Mick Comparetta of Wellsville.

The foul shooting trophy was won by Ferrall of Columbiana, who made eight of 10 attempts. Winters was runnerup in the foul shooting department with 15 of 20.

Wellsville led at halftime, 12-11, but the third quarter ended in a 16-16 tie.

Following the tournament trophies were presented to the winning team, runnerup and consolation winner by Carl Pelini, Westgate principal, and Clarence Means, principal of East Junior High, who served as tournament directors.

Unseeded Net Star Claims Indoor Title

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Dennis (The Menace) Ralston is perhaps the flashiest tennis player to streak across American courts since Jack Kramer, but his success in winning back the Davis Cup depends on a sensitive trigger temper.

"This boy could be the greatest," said Gardnar Mulloy after Ralston had whipped Mike Sangster of Britain 7-5, 4-6, 6-3, 10-8 for the National Indoor Championship Sunday, "but he must be handled properly.

"The people who run the game almost cut his heart out when they suspended him a couple of years ago. He is an artist—very moody and temperamental—but if he can be made to believe in himself, there's no limit to where he can go."

Ralston, 20, a junior at the University of Southern California, became the youngest player ever to win the indoor title.

Unseeded, he swept through a star-spangled field that included such world-ranking stars as Roy Emerson of Australia, Manuel Santana of Spain and Chuck McKinley of San Antonio, Tex. He beat McKinley, the United States' No. 1 ranked player, in the semi-finals.

People Can't Resist Writing In Little Box

"You would be surprised at the number of people who can't resist writing in that box," an Internal Revenue Service spokesman told Shelby's Junior Chamber of Commerce. "And their words generally go like this, 'I'll write any darn place I please'."

3 Items Left For Decision In NBA Race

By The Associated Press

With the end of the regular season in sight, there appear only three things left to be decided in the National Basketball Association, other than individual records.

They are:

1. The race between Boston and Los Angeles, the divisional leaders, for the extra $2,000 that goes to the team with the highest percentage. Los Angeles leads .750 to .712.

2. The race between Syracuse and Cincinnati for second place in the Eastern Division and the extra $3,000 that goes to the team finishing runner-up. Syracuse leads Cincinnati by two games. Each have 16 games left to play.

3. The race between Detroit and San Francisco for the third and last playoff spot in the Western Division. Detroit leads by half a game. Detroit has 16 games to play, San Francisco 17. No extra money is given for the finishing third, but the team that does gets $6,000 for making the divisional semifinal playoffs.

Both Syracuse and Cincinnati won Sunday as did Boston. Syracuse whipped Detroit 143-124, Cincinnati defeated New York 609-98 and Boston nipped Chicago 110-99, Boston took St. Louis 114-94 and San Francisco went two overtimes to defeat Los Angeles 122-118.

People In News

By The Associated Press

Queen Elizabeth II and the Duke of Edinburgh—still plagued by bad weather—arrived in Canberra, Australia, from New Zealand, which they toured for 13 days.

Drizzle fell as a jet airliner carrying the couple landed.

The prince, 28, was stricken with stomach flu last Wednesday while visiting Ottawa and was kept in bed for two days.

While Marzano was riding his motorcycle on the highway near Casarano, his rear tire blew out. He flew onto the hood of an oncoming car driven by Cassella and slid up against the windshield. The motorcycle landed on top of the car, smashing a jagged hole through the roof. Marzano suffered several broken ribs. Cassella was uninjured.

Items At Museum Are Downright Rare

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — The Historical Society Museum has a new exhibit that, in this automobile age, would be a collector's item anywhere but in Florida, is downright rare.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Simpson of St. Petersburg recently presented the museum with a set of four snowshoes for horses. The snowshoes are made of wood, a foot long and 9 inches wide, with a gadget mounted on top into which Old Dobbin placed his hoof.

Rule Change Should Help Yankees' Newest Pitcher

By The Associated Press

The major rule change for baseball this year should help the New York Yankees' major acquisition of the winter, Stan Williams.

The pitcher's target has been enlarged some 10 inches, from the top of the batter's shoulders down to his knees. It's that upward enlargement that should benefit the big right-hander who was dealt to the American League champions by the Los Angeles Dodgers during the off-season for first baseman Bill Skowron.

"Williams' best pitch is a rising fast ball and he'll get strikes this year which he didn't last season," manager Ralph Houk said today. "I don't think the new rule will help anyone but the big fastballers."

Johnny Sain, the Yankee pitching coach now working with Williams at the Yankee training camp in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., agrees the change will prove a definite advantage for Stan, and the pitcher agrees with his manager and his coach—with a reservation.

"When I'm wild, I'm wild high, so it should help me there," he said. "I'll get some strikes that were called balls last year. But when I have my stuff, I like to keep the ball low."

The Yankees signed ace southpaw Whitey Ford over the weekend for an estimated $47,000 — about $2,000 more than the accomplished left-hander got last season, when he was 17-8. Ford has the highest winning percentage of any active major league pitcher—175-71 for .711.

The Boston Red Sox signed their leading pitcher, Bill Monbouquette. The right-hander, who has been the top man of Boston's staff the past three seasons, hit a personal high last year with 15 victories—one a no-hitter against the Chicago White Sox, Monbo lost 13.

Slugger Lee Thomas jumped the gun and reported to the Los Angeles Angeles' camp at Palm Springs, Calif., Saturday — three days ahead of schedule — and worked out with the pitchers and catchers.

Reds Rapped On Prejudice By Africans

VIENNA (AP) — Communism has lost a battle in Africa. The defeat well could influence the future course of young nations on the Dark Continent.

The battle was lost in the minds of African studenst who went behind the Iron Curtain and found Communist talk about the equality of man only a lure.

But the young Africans, some of whom one day may guide the destinies of their nations, said on arrival in Vienna that they had learned a lesson.

Some had accepted scholarships because they sympathized with communism. Others went to get a free education. Whatever their political affiliations and motives, they all seemed to have been hit where it hurt most—their dignity as colored people.

Political indoctrination to spread communism in Africa through Africans, was a major part of their course of study, the students said.

2 IN MEMORIAM

IN loving memory of my dear wife, Mrs. Fred Shaw, who passed away 2 years ago, Feb. 26, 1961.
When the evening shades are falling,
And I'm sitting all alone,
In my heart there comes a longing
If you only could come home.
They say time heals all sorrow
And helps us to forget
But time so far has only proved
How much I miss you yet.
Altho your soul is now at rest,
And free from care and pain
This world would seem like Heaven
If I had you back again.
God gives us strength to carry on
And courage to heal the blow
But what it meant to lose you
No one will ever know.
You bid no one a last farewell
Or even said goodbye
You were gone before we knew it
And only God knows why.
Sadly missed by husband, son, and daughters.

Reds Rapped On Prejudice By Africans

VIENNA (AP) — Communism has lost a battle in Africa. The defeat well could influence the future course of young nations on the Dark Continent.

The battle was lost in the minds of African studenst who went behind the Iron Curtain and found Communist talk about the equality of man only a lure.

They are coming back with the same accusation of racial discrimination they once hurled at their white colonial masters.

The Africans, most of them in their 20s, told of racial abuses, forced political indoctrination, police brutality, arrests and fear of deportation.

Bulgarian authorities hurriedly assured African and Western diplomats that the incidents were nothing serious.

But the young Africans, some of whom one day may guide the destinies of their nations, said on arrival in Vienna that they had learned a lesson.

Some had accepted scholarships because they sympathized with communism. Others went to get a free education. Whatever their political affiliations and motives, they all seemed to have been hit where it hurt most—their dignity as colored people.

Political indoctrination to spread communism in Africa through Africans, was a major part of their course of study, the students said.

2 IN MEMORIAM

IN loving memory of my dear wife, Mrs. Fred Shaw, who passed away 2 years ago, Feb. 26, 1961.
When the evening shades are falling,
And I'm sitting all alone,
In my heart there comes a longing
If you only could come home.
They say time heals all sorrow
And helps us to forget
But time so far has only proved
How much I miss you yet.
Altho your soul is now at rest,
And free from care and pain
This world would seem like Heaven
If I had you back again.
God gives us strength to carry on
And courage to heal the blow
But what it meant to lose you
No one will ever know.
You bid no one a last farewell
Or even said goodbye
You were gone before we knew it
And only God knows why.
Sadly missed by husband, son, and daughters.

A. With two parts of soft paste white lead (in oil), three parts of Spanish whiting, one part of plaster of Paris. If too stiff, add boiled linseed oil a little at a time. Paint the cracks first and apply the filler with a broad putty knife. Smooth off evenly, then let dry, and sandpaper lightly for a nice finish.

Q. How can I remove a shallow dent in the body of my car?

A. Here's one easy and often-effective way to do this: Smear the surrounding area with grease. Then apply a plumber's rubber force cup to the center of the dent, and, after expelling the air, give a quick jerk — which often brings the dent right up.

Q. Have you any suggestions for the painting of furniture, canisters, or any such article which bears a design or lettering which I'd like to retain on the newly-painted surface?

A. Spread a thin coating of melted wax with a fine brush over the design or lettering to be preserved. Then the wax can be removed later, and the design will remain intact.

Q. Can you suggest an efficient way to prepare steaks that are to be served rare, medium-rare, and well-done?

A. You can do this all at the same time and in the same length of time by placing on the broiler tray completely frozen meats for rare, partially-thawed steaks for medium and unfrozen steaks for well done.

Q. What can I do if the fabric or leather wears off a belt buckle?

A. Remove all the rest of the covering and paint the framework of the buckle with a harmonizing or contrasting fingernail polish. Give it a new coat occasionally to keep it colorful and shining.

Junior Editors Quiz on FOLKLORE

QUESTION: Could you tell us about leprechauns?

ANSWER: A leprechaun is a kind of fairy. Fairies are imaginary beings looking like humans but supposed to be possessed with magical powers. Many races of people have written and sung songs about them, such as the English with their "pixies" and "brownies" and the Arabs with their "genii." Irish fairies, however, are the most amusing and imaginative ones. The ancient saga of Fergus Mac Leti rewritten in the 14th century, tells about a tiny fairy people called leprechauns.

As our artist suggests, these little folks made shoes for the other fairies, were notoriously short-tempered and lived by themselves in lonely places. Being very thrifty, each leprechaun had acquired a pot of gold, which he kept well hidden. People were always trying to catch them, because it was believed that a leprechaun would tell you where his pot of gold was hidden if you would agree to release him. But it was also said you couldn't believe anything a leprechaun told you. The leprechaun in our picture is looking suspiciously at the fairy because he's afraid she might reach out for him.

Burglars Take Beer In Warehouse Entry

An unknown amount of beer was taken and a gasoline pump was damaged when thieves broke into the Iron City Distributing Co. garage at 10 S. Market St. over the weekend, police reported.

Dick Sperry, manager, told police this morning the thieves broke off a lock on the garage door, took some beer from a truck parked inside and broke the glass in a gasoline pump outside.

An escutcheon on the door leading to the public address room at East Junior High School was damaged sometime over the weekend but there was no sign of forcible entry, police said. The vandalism was reported by Harold Diddle, custodian.
